U.S. Fleet On Alert For Any Red Action

Steams Ike Northward To Formosa

President Looking Ahead To Greeting From Nationalists

BULLETIN

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER (AP)—It was learned today that President Eisenhower believes the Chinese Communists, with the aim of making anti-American propaganda, are responsible for blocking his visit to Tokyo.

EN ROUTE WITH EISENHOWER (AP) —The mighty U.S. 7th Fleet kept an unflagging vigil today, ready to meet any Chinese Communist show of force as President Eisenhower steamed north toward the Nationalist Chinese island fortress of Formosa.

Vice Adm. Charles D. Griffin, commander of the fleet, told newsmen the Chinese Reds "might well do something" in an attempt to further mar the President's Asian tour, already blighted by cancellation of his visit to Japan.

Eisenhower relaxed aboard the heavy cruiser St. Paul, flagship of the fleet, after his tremendous reception in the Philippines. He looked weary and grim as he boarded the cruiser in Manila Bay late Thursday night. It was no secret that he was unhappy that he was not going to Japan because of Communist-inspired mob violence.

But he could look forward to an extremely warmhearted reception from the Chinese Nationalists and similar outpourings of friendships in South Korea.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower will arrive in Korea on Sunday —three days earlier than originally planned. He will spend more than 24 hours there instead of the eight hours previously scheduled.

From Korea, the President's big jet will take him to Hawaii for several days and then on to Washington. Hagerty said the plane would refuel en route to Hawaii, but not in Japan. Presumably it will put down at Okinawa or Wake Island.

Weather permitting, a helicopter will whisk Eisenhower from the deck of the St. Paul to Taipei's Pine Hill Airport Saturday to start his 24-hour Formosa visit. If rain continues on Formosa, the St. Paul will land the President at the port of Keelung, and he will be driven the 15 miles into Taipei.

Negotiations Resume To End Long Strike

Union and company officials of the Ohio Valley Gas Co. met shortly before noon in the Fort Steuben Hotel in Steubenville in an effort to end a 48-day-old strike of maintenance workers.

Thirty-six members of Local 13656, United Mine Workers District 50, went on strike May 1 in East Liverpool in a dispute over a new wage contract. Other locals in Steubenville and the Martins Ferry-Bellaire area also are on strike.

William Bleigh, 1611 Alpha St., president of the city local, two committeemen and a field representative met this morning with Ohio Valley officials.

No announcement was made of the purpose of the session, but it was presumed to have been arranged to continue negotiations for a new contract. The old contract expired at midnight April 30.

Along with Bleigh, Earl Steffen of Wellsville and Robert Kelly of Lisbon, committeemen, and Frank Wisser of East Palestine, field representative of the local, were to attend.

Tuesday, Ohio Valley attempted to end the six-weeks old strike of its union employes in the Martins Ferry-Bellaire area by offering to extend to May 1, 1961 the expired contract, minus a modified union shop provision sought by the union.

James Cole, Bellaire company division manager, said the offer was rejected by the union representatives. The offer would have included a provision that would grant the Bellaire union any pertinent contract changes of any settlement reached with either the Steubenville or East Liverpool unions of the company's workers.

Socialist Leader In Tokyo Stabbed As Students Mass

TOKYO (AP)—A Socialist leader was stabbed today as 20,000 students massed outside Japan's Parliament building for new demonstrations against alliance with the United States.

Premier Nobusuke Kishi's ruling conservatives again defiantly announced they would go ahead with ratification of the U.S.-Japan defense treaty.

Afterward, a government spokesman said, elections will be called at which the conservatives will seek a mandate from the Japanese people for new laws to curb communist violence.

Jotaro Kawakami, a leader of the Socialist opposition to the Japanese-American treaty, was stabbed in the shoulder outside a building in the Parliament compound by an extreme rightist.

The wound apparently was not fatal, but Kawakami fell to the ground, bleeding profusely. His assailant was turned over to the police.

The student mob massed outside Parliament for a new effort to bring down Kishi's government and smash the security treaty was told over loudspeakers of the attack.

"Kawakami's injury is not serious," the announcement said. "There is no danger to his life."

There was a possibility the incident would become a new rallying point for the leftist front backing the riotous campaign against Kishi.

The death of a girl during the mass assault on Parliament Wednesday has already become a symbol for the anti-Kishi forces.

Then some threw stones at police lined up inside the Parliament grounds and beat sticks on the walls of the compound.

Socialist Chairman Inejiro Asanuma rushed to confer with Kishi over the stabbing. Asanuma had been refusing for several weeks to meet with Kishi unless the Prime Minister would agree to resign.

Kosaku Shinoda, spokesman for Kishi's Liberal-Democratic party, told newsmen he believed the Premier would resign after ratification of the treaty providing for U.S. military bases in Japan for at least another 10 years.

Boy Dragged In Lisbon St. Mishap; Man's Hearing Set

An 11-year-old Pleasant Heights boy is in "fairly good" condition today at City Hospital with severe injuries suffered Thursday at 3:47 p. m. when his bicycle was struck by a car on Lisbon St. near Sanford Ave.

Ricky Kelly, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Kelly, 834 Spring Grove Ave., suffered possible fractures of the skull and left thigh, abrasions of the forehead and a deep laceration of the left forearm.

Police said the boy was dragged or carried 84 feet after his bike was hit by a 1953 two-door auto operated by James Hugh Timmons, 24, of Boring Ln. Charged with reckless driving, Timmons entered a not guilty plea today before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff through his counsel, Atty. Robert A. Kapp.

The court set a hearing July 1 after Atty. Kapp asked a continuance "until an investigation can be made on behalf of the defendant." Timmons' bond was set at $56.

According to the police report, Timmons was driving north on Lisbon St. about 35 miles an hour and the boy was riding his bicycle in the same direction. Timmons said he started to pass and at the same time the boy turned his bicycle into the left lane, resulting in a collision between the car and the bike.

Officers said skid marks were measured 84 feet from the point of impact. The auto carried the boy the entire 84 feet and dropped him on the left side of the street, police

House Faced With Foreign Aid Measure

Shadow Of Summit Collapse And Tokyo Riots Hang Heavy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The shadow of the shattered Paris conference and Communist-inspired rioting in Tokyo hung over the House today as it met to decide how much money to give the foreign aid program.

The issue boiled down to this: Should the House go along with its Appropriations Committee and provide $3,384,500,000 to finance the program despite President Eisenhower's insistence that the amount is not enough?

Or, should it restore 250 million of the 790½ million dollars cut by the committee from the amount Eisenhower asked for the fiscal year starting July 1?

There was no thought of trying to restore the entire reduction and the chances of putting back the 250 million appeared about even.

Republicans who in the past have led budget-cutting drives in the House found themselves in the position of advocating increases.

Pending when the House adjourned Thursday was an amendment by Rep. John Taber of New York, senior GOP member of the Appropriations Committee, to put back half the 400 million dollars cut by the committee from the two billion sought by the President for direct military assistance.

In the offing was another amendment by Rep. Gerald R. Ford (R-Mich) to restore 50 million of the 124 million trimmed from the original request for 724 million for defense support funds.

Authorities Push Inquiry On Junk Yards' Auto Titles

An East Liverpool scrap metal dealer was fined $50 and costs today in Municipal Court as a district inspector for the Bureau of Motor Vehicles and the State Highway Patrol continued a county-wide check of junk yards accused of failing to turn in titles to be canceled after purchasing cars for scrap. Another was fined.

The penalty was meted out to Paul Berman, 321 W. 9th St., operator of the Berman Auto Wrecking Co., who entered a plea of "no contest" before Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff through his counsel, Atty. Ben H. Berman.

Judge Chertoff fined Berman $100 and costs and sentenced him to 30 days in the county jail, but suspended all of the penalty except $50 of the fine. He warned that violation of the law calls for a maximum penalty of $200 and 90 days in jail.

The charge against Berman, filed Wednesday by Howard Lisk, district inspector for the BMV, alleged that in one instance he failed to surrender title to a junked car to the clerk of courts at Lisbon for cancelation within the 3-day limit set by the state law.

Lisk testified he made an investigation with Berman, but was told the junk yard was not holding any titles. He said a state patrolman who accompanied him found about 200 titles in a waste basket on the premises. There

U.S. Seeks To Patch Up Japan Ties

Will Attempt To Minimize Damage Done To Relations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Officials said today the United States will do everything possible to minimize the damage to U.S.-Japanese relations resulting from Tokyo's riotous uproar over a new security pact and dramatized by cancellation of President Eisenhower's visit.

But for the moment no one in authority here seems to have any clear idea of what is possible. The prevailing attitude is "wait and see" what the Japanese do next.

Washington's hope is that Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi will be able to remain in power long enough to complete his country's ratification of the new U.S.-Japanese defense treaty. That will occur automatically on Sunday, Japanese time—Saturday, Washington time — unless the Parliament is disolved in the meantime.

In Tokyo, Kishi held fast to his plans for bringing about ratification despite an opposition announcement of stepped-up plans to block the treaty and topple Kishi before that time.

The treaty, replacing a 1951 pact which gave the United States much greater authority in Japan, would recognize Japan as an equal partner, provide for mutual defense within Japan and require U.S.-Japanese consultations on use of U.S. troops stationed there.

But for various reasons many Japanese have objected to the treaty provision which permits U.S. use of military bases in Japan for at least another 11 years. Present rights to the bases have no time limit.

Despite the uproar in Japan, the U.S. Senate was expected to vote ratification of the treaty by Saturday—perhaps even late today.

If both countries complete ratification, Washington authorities hope the political turmoil in Japan will subside. It will then be possible, they hope, to take a long and serious look at where the two countries actually stand in their relationship.

But at present there are vitally important unknown factors as officials here see the situation. One of them is the extent to which the violent demonstrations of recent days have set in motion Japanese political forces hostile to close ties with this country.

Another serious concern is with the practical effectiveness of the alliance with Japan, especially as it bears on the continued presence there of U.S. air and naval bases, if the hostility proves to be widespread.

Balanced against such considerations is the conviction of U.S. leaders that most of the people in Japan are basically friendly to the United States and recognize that their economic well-being in recent years has been based largely on extensive commercial relations between the two countries. The United States is Japan's best customer and Japan is the second largest purchaser of American goods.

U.S. Military Brass To Hear World Trends

Defense Chief Says Situation In Japan Greatly Disturbing

QUANTICO, Va .(AP)—The Defense Department's high command receives today the secret assessments by the intelligence and diplomatic services on trends abroad, including the grave turn of affairs in Japan.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. described as "extremely disturbing" the situation arising out of highly organized leftist opposition to the Japanese ratification of the new U. S. -Japan security treaty.

Arriving Thursday night to preside over the eighth annual conference of civilian and military leaders from Washington and overseas, Gates told newsmen he thought it "very important to get the treaty ratified."

It was obvious that Gates was concerned about what could happen to U. S. military positions in strategically important Japan if the policies of the conservative Kishi government were canceled out by the Communist-inspired opposition.

The United States has two big naval bases, seven major air bases and a naval air facility now in Japan, and considers them important to defense of the Far East.

Record Walk Completed By Two Britons

NEW YORK (AP)—Two doughty British sergeants strode into New York today after hoofing it across the United States in 67 days—12 less than a transcontinental mark set in 1926.

The sergeants, Patrick Moloney, 34, and Mervyn Evans, 33, emerged from the Lincoln Tunnel into Manhattan at 9:58 a.m., maintaining their cross-country stride of 4½ miles an hour.

They entered the 8,216-foot long tunnel—which connects New Jersey with Manhattan under the Hudson River—shortly after their final night's lodging at Newark.

"We're in good condition but it's a rough trip," they said before turning in Thursday night at a motel by Newark Airport.

Earlier they had their first haircut since leaving Wyoming, presented by Larry Pecorardo, a Scotch Plains barber.

"We like our hair long," said Evans. "It keeps the sun off our necks."

The sergeants left San Francisco April 12. Another transcontinental trekker, Dr. Barbara Moore, a British vegetarian who is the wife of sculptor Henry Moore, started the same day as the sergeants but has fallen behind. She is in Indiana.

Senate Okays $40 Billion Defense Bill

$1.2 Billion Housing Measure Also Gets Senators' Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Passing its third major measure in a single day, the Senate has sent to the House a $1,247,500,000 omnibus housing bill trimmed to meet some objections of President Eisenhower.

Three more pieces of major legislation were on today's schedule as the legislators gave their first solid evidence they are anxious to adjourn before the national political conventions next month.

The housing bill was passed 64-16 just before midnight Thursday. The action capped a 14-hour day which also brought passage of a 40-billion-dollar defense money bill and submission to the states of a constitutional amendment proposal to permit District of Columbia residents to vote for presidential electors.

Ratification within seven years by at least 38 states is necessary to make the amendment effective. District residents now have no vote.

Shells Fired At Quemoy As Protest

President On Way To Formosa, 110 Miles To The East

TOKYO (AP) — Communist Chinese guns bombarded Quemoy today and Peiping Radio said the action was intended to display "contempt and scorn" for President Eisenhower.

Big guns in Fukien province on the Communist mainland opened up at 8 p.m. local time on Quemoy as well as the smaller Nationalist islands of Little Quemoy and the Tan Islets, the broadcast said.

It was an odd-numbered day of the month, meaning that Peiping was sticking to its self-imposed schedule of shooting at the offshore islands only on such days. Today's announcement of the firing to greet Eisenhower omitted mention of firing Saturday, an even-numbered day.

Peiping radio said that today and agan Sunday "a demonstration of arms against the United States—shelling to 'welcome and see off' Eisenhower—will be conducted at the Quemoy front." Inhabitants were warned to take cover.

The President is scheduled to arrive off Formosa at 9 a. m. Saturday and leave at 10:10 a.m. Sunday. Thus the bulk of the announced shelling would not take place when he is on the Nationalist Chinese stronghold of Formosa.

It branded Eisenhower a "God of plague" who has "crossed from the east side of the Pacific to its west side."

"Waves of opposition have risen everywhere it has been announced he will visit. Eisenhower has been declared persona non grata by the courageous Japanese people," the broadcast said.

Cloudy, Cool Weather Due At Potters Picnic

No rain is expected Saturday for the annual Potters Picnic, but the weather will be cloudy and cool, the Ohio forecaster said today.

A crowd of 30,000 to 35,000 is expected at the annual outing at Meyers Lake Park in Canton.

Scattered showers are expected to continue today, the weatherman said, but he made no mention of rain tomorrow. Saturday should be partly cloudy and continued cool, he said. Today's high will be 68-73 and the overnight low will be 50-55, he added.

Meanwhile, Dam 8 said the Ohio River was falling slowly today after cresting at 14.9 feet Thursday night following rains earlier in the week.

Kennedy Hints He'd Name Adlai, FDR Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy says if he is elected president he may name Adlai E. Stevenson and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. to high governmental posts.

Interviewed Thursday night on NBC-TV's "The Jack Paar Show," Kennedy praised the abilities of both Stevenson and Roosevelt.

Kennedy said he expects to win the Democratic presidential nomination, but not on the first ballot. He added, "We'll have the votes reasonably soon or not at all."

Premature 'Death Notice'

Wheatley Assails Mitchell For 'Writing Off' Potteries

E. L. Wheatley, president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, has written a scathing open letter to Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell in reply to an address in which the official listed pottery as one of the industries threatened with extinction because its products can be manufactured much more cheaply in foreign nations.

Wheatley replied to an address Mitchell gave at the Rotary International convention in Miami Beach, classing glassware, watches, bicycles and certain textile items in the same "economically unfeasible" bracket as pottery.

Wheatley laid the plight of the pottery industry at the door of "career diplomats in the State Department who never labored a day in their lives, the present administration, free traders and the 'open door' congressmen. . ."

The IBOP president pointed out that both management and labor in the pottery industry have appealed without avail in efforts to persuade Congress, the White House "and politicans in general" to set up "reasonable quotas and provide protection from the unlimited dumping (of ware) from the Asiatic countries. . ."

Continuing, Wheatley wrote:

"Many of the most ardent supporters of the reciprocal trade treaties in Congress will admit

But at present there are vitally important unknown factors as officials here see the situation. One of them is the extent to which the violent demonstrations of recent days have set in motion Japanese political forces hostile to close ties with this country.

Another serious concern is with the practical effectiveness of the alliance with Japan, especially as it bears on the continued presence there of U.S. air and naval bases, if the hostility proves to be widespread.

Balanced against such considerations is the conviction of U.S. leaders that most of the people in Japan are basically friendly to the United States and recognize that their economic well-being in recent years has been based largely on extensive commercial relations between the two countries. The United States is Japan's best customer and Japan is the second largest purchaser of American goods.

CLIPPED TWO WAYS. Two British Army sergeants clipped and got clipped today as they ended their transcontinental hike from San Francisco to New York. Sgt. U.S. Military Brass To Hear World Trends

Defense Chief Says Situation In Japan Greatly Disturbing

QUANTICO, Va. (AP)—The Defense Department's high command receives today the secret assessments by the intelligence and diplomatic services on trends abroad, including the grave turn of affairs in Japan.

Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr. described as "extremely disturbing" the situation arising out of highly organized leftist opposition to the Japanese ratification of the new U. S. -Japan security treaty.

Arriving Thursday night to preside over the eighth annual conference of civilian and military leaders from Washington and overseas, Gates told newsmen he thought it "very important to get the treaty ratified."

It was obvious that Gates was concerned about what could happen to U. S. military positions in strategically important Japan if the policies of the conservative Kishi government were canceled out by the Communist-inspired opposition.

The United States has two big naval bases, seven major air bases and a naval air facility now in Japan, and considers them important to defense of the Far East.

Record Walk Completed By Two Britons

NEW YORK (AP)—Two doughty British sergeants strode into New York today after hoofing it across the United States in 67 days—12 less than a transcontinental mark set in 1926.

The sergeants, Patrick Moloney, 34, and Mervyn Evans, 33, emerged from the Lincoln Tunnel into Manhattan at 9:58 a.m., maintaining their cross-country stride of 4½ miles an hour.

They entered the 8,216-foot long tunnel—which connects New Jersey with Manhattan under the Hudson River—shortly after their final night's lodging at Newark.

"We're in good condition but it's a rough trip," they said before turning in Thursday night at a motel by Newark Airport.

Earlier they had their first haircut since leaving Wyoming, presented by Larry Pecorardo, a Scotch Plains barber.

"We like our hair long," said Evans. "It keeps the sun off our necks."

The sergeants left San Francisco April 12. Another transcontinental trekker, Dr. Barbara Moore, a British vegetarian who is the wife of sculptor Henry Moore, started the same day as the sergeants but has fallen behind. She is in Indiana.

Senate Okays $40 Billion Defense Bill

$1.2 Billion Housing Measure Also Gets Senators' Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Passing its third major measure in a single day, the Senate has sent to the House a $1,247,500,000 omnibus housing bill trimmed to meet some objections of President Eisenhower.

Three more pieces of major legislation were on today's schedule as the legislators gave their first solid evidence they are anxious to adjourn before the national political conventions next month.

The housing bill was passed 64-16 just before midnight Thursday. The action capped a 14-hour day which also brought passage of a 40-billion-dollar defense money bill and submission to the states of a constitutional amendment proposal to permit District of Columbia residents to vote for presidential electors.

Ratification within seven years by at least 38 states is necessary to make the amendment effective. District residents now have no vote.

First on today's schedule was

Kennedy Hints He'd Name Adlai, FDR Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy says if he is elected president he may name Adlai E. Stevenson and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. to high governmental posts.

Interviewed Thursday night on NBC-TV's "The Jack Paar Show," Kennedy praised the abilities of both Stevenson and Roosevelt.

Kennedy said he expects to win the Democratic presidential nomination, but not on the first ballot. He added, "We'll have the votes reasonably soon or not at all."

Cloudy, Cool Weather Due At Potters Picnic

No rain is expected Saturday for the annual Potters Picnic, but the weather will be cloudy and cool, the Ohio forecaster said today.

A crowd of 30,000 to 35,000 is expected at the annual outing at Meyers Lake Park in Canton.

Scattered showers are expected to continue today, the weatherman said, but he made no mention of rain tomorrow. Saturday should be partly cloudy and continued cool, he said. Today's high will be 68-73 and the overnight low will be 50-55, he added.

Meanwhile, Dam 8 said the Ohio River was falling slowly today after cresting at 14.9 feet Thursday night following rains earlier in the week.

Premature 'Death Notice'

Wheatley Assails Mitchell For 'Writing Off' Potteries

E. L. Wheatley, president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, has written a scathing open letter to Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell in reply to an address in which the official listed pottery as one of the industries threatened with extinction because its products can be manufactured much more cheaply in foreign nations.

Wheatley replied to an address Mitchell gave at the Rotary International convention in Miami Beach, classing glassware, watches, bicycles and certain textile items in the same "economically unfeasible" bracket as pottery.

Wheatley laid the plight of the pottery industry at the door of "career diplomats in the State Department who never labored a day in their lives, the present administration, free traders and the 'open door' congressmen. . ."

The IBOP president pointed out that both management and labor in the pottery industry have appealed without avail in efforts to persuade Congress, the White House "and politicans in general" to set up "reasonable quotas and provide protection from the unlimited dumping (of ware) from the Asiatic countries. . ."

Continuing, Wheatley wrote:

"Many of the most ardent supporters of the reciprocal trade treaties in Congress will admit

Shells Fired At Quemoy As Protest

President On Way To Formosa, 110 Miles To The East

TOKYO (AP) — Communist Chinese guns bombarded Quemoy today and Peiping Radio said the action was intended to display "contempt and scorn" for President Eisenhower.

Big guns in Fukien province on the Communist mainland opened up at 8 p.m. local time on Quemoy as well as the smaller Nationalist islands of Little Quemoy and the Tan Islets, the broadcast said.

It was an odd-numbered day of the month, meaning that Peiping was sticking to its self-imposed schedule of shooting at the offshore islands only on such days. Today's announcement of the firing to greet Eisenhower omitted mention of firing Saturday, an even-numbered day.

Peiping radio said that today and agan Sunday "a demonstration of arms against the United States—shelling to 'welcome and see off' Eisenhower—will be conducted at the Quemoy front." Inhabitants were warned to take cover.

The President is scheduled to arrive off Formosa at 9 a. m. Saturday and leave at 10:10 a.m. Sunday. Thus the bulk of the announced shelling would not take place when he is on the Nationalist Chinese stronghold of Formosa.

It branded Eisenhower a "God of plague" who has "crossed from the east side of the Pacific to its west side."

"Waves of opposition have risen everywhere it has been announced he will visit. Eisenhower has been declared persona non grata by the courageous Japanese people," the broadcast said.

Station Auto Plate Disputed In 'Test' Case

When does a station wagon cease to be a pleasure car and become a commercial vehicle?

The question, which crops up frequently to puzzle both drivers and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, was posed today for Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff in the case of a Columbus man accused of failing to register his station wagon properly.

Harry N. Eckenrode was cited at 11:55 a. m. Thursday on W. 3rd St. by Patrolman W. E. McDaniel, who said the defendant was using a pleasure car tag on his vehicle, when it should have been registered as a commercial vehicle.

Eckenrode, who has an animal show with the Gooding Brothers Co. carnival in West End, was hauling bales of hay and straw and groceries in the rear of the station wagon-type vehicle, the officer testified.

Eckenrode testified he checked the law with state officials when he purchased the vehicle, explained the purposes for which it is used and was told that he should register it as a passenger car. So long as there was a rear seat in the vehicle, it would not be classed as a commercial car, he said he was told.

The question arises frequently because the difference in the license fee for a private car, as compared with a commercial vehicle.

Judge Chertoff studied the law and a bulletin from the BMV after hearing the testimony and ordered the charge against Eckenrode dismissed. He said he found "sufficient compliance with the law" on the defendant's part.

Three other motorists forfeited bonds today in Municipal Court. They are:

Robert McCormick of Chester R. D. 1, $31 for crashing a traffic light Wednesday night at Pennsylvania Ave. and Mulberry St.; Homer Timmons Jr., 211 Walnut St., $16 for crashing a light at E. 5th and Walnut Sts. at 2:30 this morning, and Mrs. Georgia McMann of Erie, $31 for passing on a Route 30 curve Saturday.

Markos, 64, Free On $5,000 Bond In Bribe Conviction

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio George Markos, 64, Greek immigrant owner of a pinball and coin machine business in Dover, was free on $5,000 bond today pending appeal from a conviction on charges he bribed Dover's three-term Republican mayor.

A jury of eight men and four women took only one vote and deliberated about 2½ hours before returning the guilty verdict late Thursday. It was the first conviction for Markos in more than 30 years of association wth Tuscarawas County gambling and racket figures.

Markos declined to comment on the verdict.

Mayor Clifford C. Froelich, 61, of Dover, whose trial is yet to come, said: "We can't see that it is fair. We're stunned by it."

Froelich was not called as a witness during the eight-day trial, which had been postponed because of a heart ailment affecting Markos.

Judge Frank Cope deferred sentence pending appeal. Conviction on the six-count indictment carries a possible 1-to-10-year penitentiary sentence on each count.

GOP In Hancock To Fill Vacancies

The Hancock County Republican Executive Committee will meet Monday night in Weirton to take action on filling vacancies on the party ticket for the November general election.

The session will be held at 7:30 at the home of James Ravoira, who recently was returned as executive committee chairmen.

The Republicans lack candidates for two major county offices—a seat in the House of Delegates and county surveyor. Two GOP members must be named as candidates for Butler District justice of the peace in Weirton.

The Republican named to the House of Delegates bid will oppose Miss Callie Tsapis, Democrat, who won renomination in the May 10 primary. The person named to the county surveyor vacancy will oppose A. L. Stackpole of Newell in the fall.

Station Auto Plate Disputed In 'Test' Case

When does a station wagon cease to be a pleasure car and become a commercial vehicle?

The question, which crops up frequently to puzzle both drivers and the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, was posed today for Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff in the case of a Columbus man accused of failing to register his station wagon properly.

Harry N. Eckenrode was cited at 11:55 a. m. Thursday on W. 3rd St. by Patrolman W. E. McDaniel, who said the defendant was using a pleasure car tag on his vehicle, when it should have been registered as a commercial vehicle.

Eckenrode, who has an animal show with the Gooding Brothers Co. carnival in West End, was hauling bales of hay and straw and groceries in the rear of the station wagon-type vehicle, the officer testified.

Eckenrode testified he checked the law with state officials when he purchased the vehicle, explained the purposes for which it is used and was told that he should register it as a passenger car. So long as there was a rear seat in the vehicle, it would not be classed as a commercial car, he said he was told.

The question arises frequently because the difference in the license fee for a private car, as compared with a commercial vehicle.

Judge Chertoff studied the law and a bulletin from the BMV after hearing the testimony and ordered the charge against Eckenrode dismissed. He said he found "sufficient compliance with the law" on the defendant's part.

Three other motorists forfeited bonds today in Municipal Court. They are:

Robert McCormick of Chester R. D. 1, $31 for crashing a traffic light Wednesday night at Pennsylvania Ave. and Mulberry St.; Homer Timmons Jr., 211 Walnut St., $16 for crashing a light at E. 5th and Walnut Sts. at 2:30 this morning, and Mrs. Georgia McMann of Erie, $31 for passing on a Route 30 curve Saturday.

Markos, 64, Free On $5,000 Bond In Bribe Conviction

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio George Markos, 64, Greek immigrant owner of a pinball and coin machine business in Dover, was free on $5,000 bond today pending appeal from a conviction on charges he bribed Dover's three-term Republican mayor.

A jury of eight men and four women took only one vote and deliberated about 2½ hours before returning the guilty verdict late Thursday. It was the first conviction for Markos in more than 30 years of association wth Tuscarawas County gambling and racket figures.

Markos declined to comment on the verdict.

Mayor Clifford C. Froelich, 61, of Dover, whose trial is yet to come, said: "We can't see that it is fair. We're stunned by it."

Froelich was not called as a witness during the eight-day trial, which had been postponed because of a heart ailment affecting Markos.

Judge Frank Cope deferred sentence pending appeal. Conviction on the six-count indictment carries a possible 1-to-10-year penitentiary sentence on each count.

GOP In Hancock To Fill Vacancies

The Hancock County Republican Executive Committee will meet Monday night in Weirton to take action on filling vacancies on the party ticket for the November general election.

The session will be held at 7:30 at the home of James Ravoira, who recently was returned as executive committee chairmen.

The Republicans lack candidates for two major county offices—a seat in the House of Delegates and county surveyor. Two GOP members must be named as candidates for Butler District justice of the peace in Weirton.

The Republican named to the House of Delegates bid will oppose Miss Callie Tsapis, Democrat, who won renomination in the May 10 primary. The person named to the county surveyor vacancy will oppose A. L. Stackpole of Newell in the fall.

The Commies Have Not Won Yet

Americans can heave a sigh of relief that President Eisenhower is not going to Japan. Many considered the personal danger too great and the fears were increased by the riotous attack on James Hagerty last week and by the open concern of the President's Secret Service bodyguard.

But Mr. Eisenhower also must be admired for his display of personal courage. To have canceled the trip while the Japanese government's invitation still stood would have seriously damaged the prestige of the United States as a nation. He was not willing to do that merely to save his own comfort.

Withdrawal of the invitation by Premier Kishi, therefore, has done the United States and its chief executive a service by taking us off the hook.

THERE REMAINS, however, the big question of what effect cancellation of the visit will have in the current deep freeze of the cold war.

The Communists, true to form, are claiming it proves the bankruptcy of the Kishi government. They are jubilant at the idea that a leftist minority has forced the Japanese government to back down and drag the United States with it.

Some people on our side of the fence are inclined to agree with the Communists. They are willing to admit the Kremlin has won this skirmish and that the United States is irrevocably humiliated in its defeat.

But such a judgment may be premature. The battle is not over. Its final outcome is primarily in the hands of the Kishi government and at this moment it is too early to tell what that outcome will be.

The Premier's remarks at the time of his announcement that the invitation had been withdrawn were forceful and confident, even if glum. He said, "We must fight this violence head-on."

IF HE CAN BE TAKEN at his word, this would indicate the invitation was withdrawn for two reasons:

1. Premier Kishi no longer felt he could guarantee the safety of the President and did not want to run the risk of bearing the blame for personal attack on the head of a friendly foreign state.

2. He believes the time has come for a forceful, showdown stand against the Communist minority and this will require the full attention of him and his government, undiverted by a state visit.

Despite the violent demonstrations by his leftist opponents, the Premier has several factors in his favor in such a showdown:

1. His party holds an overwhelming elected majority in the Diet, indicating he is not being rosy-eyed when he says 15,000 rioters do not represent the thinking of 70 million Japanese.

2. The mutual security treaty with the United States, which served as the launching pad for the Red riots, is probably the most favorable treaty any defeated nation ever received from its conqueror. The pact recognizes Japanese doubts about U.S. bases on its territory by providing that the United States will help protect Japan against attack but will obtain approval from it before using bases for military action elsewhere.

3. Several leftist groups responsible for earlier demonstrations had conceded that public opinion was turning against them. The riot which precipitated withdrawal of the invitation to the President very well might intensify that public reaction.

THESE FACTORS may not be enough to justify an optimistic outlook but they show that many influences make the Japanese situation a highly complex one in which it is impossible to predict causes and effects in black-and-white terms.

The Communists are skillful strategists, accustomed to working through minorities, and, directed from Moscow and Peiping, they are fighting for big stakes—the immediate degradation of the United States and President Eisenhower in the eyes of the world and upset of a government friendly to the West.

If the Kishi government falls, especially without achieving ratification of the U.S. treaty, a victory by the Communists will have to be conceded.

But if it stands, it will prove that the West can and should refuse to be cowed by Communist conspiracies to undermine peace and order.

That would be a signal victory for the forces of freedom. The possibility of achieving it should not be written off by premature judgments of gloom.

Waiting For The First Step

Ungrounded electric wiring in a home on W. 4th St., an unvented gas water heater in Pleasant Heights and faulty plumbing in an East End structure add up to a sampling of hazards and unsightliness that have too long been a part of this city.

Infringement of commercial businesses into strictly residential districts, unregulated dividing of building lots for crowded home construction and haphazard development of real estate is another traditional local pattern whose revision is long overdue.

The current edition of "Ohio Cities and Villages," published by the Ohio Municipal League, declares,

"The most important vehicle available to our communities in guiding their growth is the comprehensive plan; including plans for use of land; transportation facilities, whether air, water, truck or rail, and major thorofare systems; and provisions for public services, whether school, recreation, public buildings or utilities.

"TOOLS NECESSARY to make the plan work are zoning, subdivision regulations, mapped streets, urban renewal, capital improvement programs and last, but not least, regulation of physical structures themselves through building codes."

A year ago this month the city Planning Commission submitted to council a recommendation for adoption of building codes, based on a plan drawn up by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The building code proposal, along with the commission's tentative ideas for a master development plan — first step to federal aid for urban renewal — were discussed with Council and the new administration in March. All agreed some sort of a start — no matter how small — should be made, and the Commission was asked to supply further details and revisions.

The problem of financing the programs is certainly not insignificant, and we have a number of other municipal needs which are pressing.

Nevertheless, the recent census figures, showing the trend of population shift to the suburbs, indicate the need for some short-time action on our long-term programs for the future.

WE BELIEVE Council and the administration are sincere in their agreement that "something should be done," and nope that the meeting scheduled later this month will provide some definite action.

We certainly don't want interest in building codes to stem from an unnecessary tire such as that which claimed four lives in the East End about two years ago.

And we hope a redevelopment program doesn't have to spring from the near hopelessness of an almost unreclaimable "ghost town," although our faith in the future of the city rules out that fate.

The greater danger is that the costs of the programs will continue to mount as we delay initial action, and that whatever financial aid we could be getting is going to go elsewhere.

Council deserves ample time for study of the complex proposals and the ramifications involved, but if a step is to be taken, it should be soon.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

London doctor says parents shouldn't stop quarreling in front of kids. Letting moppets look on helps them understand the whole routine, he says.

Once they get accustomed to it, they realize the folly of such tactics.

The doctor is old hat. A scrap between mom and pop used to strike kids as thrilling but such encounters today can't hold their attention. Raised on TV shows, especially Westerns, they turn away from battling parents with a scornful, "they hit each other only ONCE!"

Urged to explain, the kid continued: "Dad is always satisfied if he floors mother with one blow. He never follows up by lifting her up and slugging her another half dozen times like they do in all screen battles."

"Mother got in the first haymaker last night," interrupted little Willie, "using a brass lamp with a full windup. It knocked father cold but what did she do? Stomp on him, belt him with a chair and roll all over the place, upsetting all the furniture like they do on TV? No, she lost the fight by calling it off because he was unconscious. She's lost several fireside quarrels that way."

"Do you agree with the British doctor who says parents should never hesitate to fight in the presence of children" a lad was asked. "What difference does it make? We kids walk out on 'em anyhow and switch to some real fights," the boy replied.

AN ALL-COMEDIAN program was put on for three hours on TV late the other evening. (Westerns and private eyes of the entertainment world, UNITE!) When comedians get a three-hour program, an entertainment crisis is at hand. The best most cowboy films can get is only an 8 hour. They have to ride in and out between commercials. TV detectives, with few exceptions, have to show similar speed. Rare is the soap opera that gets a full hour. A three-hour stretch for comics was revolutionary. Not even overtime ball games last that long. What hath TV wrought!

Reactions differed. Some critics cheered the experiment; others thought three hours would be too much for Will Rogers, Mark Twain or the other great funnymen of history.

Census showed 20,000 fewer people in New York City. But they may have been in elevators or waiting for "WALK" signs during the census. Or maybe stalled in vehicular tubes.

Yanks have had such tough luck on ball field they are about ready to concede that if they carried four-leaf clovers the other side would have rabbits' feet in the official lineup.

Ralph Bellamy, playing part of late Franklin D. Roosevelt, appeared on streets of Gotham. We hear more than one surviving Tory looked on in amazement, cried, "Oh, no!" and made for the river.

More people are in hospitals for mental illness than for polio, cancer, heart disease, tuberculosis and all other diseases combined, according to the National Association of Mental Health.

Too Many Fancy Frills

Reds Grab 'Iron Hammer' In Japan

By Victor Riesel

Having successfully lowered the Bamboo and Iron Curtains around itself, the Communists' international "apparat" now is preparing to raise "the Iron Hammer" against us. The "Iron Hammer" phrase was first used inside a closed conference room in Peiping during a five day session of Communist labor leaders from across the world.

Victor Riesel

They were the supreme strategists of the Soviets' World Federation of Trade Unions.

The parley, during which anti-American and anti-Eisenhower strategy was gleefully devised, began on the morning of June 5. It wound up the morning of June 9. I have a monitoring of the discussions in that guarded room.

It was a Japanese union chief, Minoru Takano, one of the directors of labor mob action on Tokyo's streets, who first spoke of the "Iron Hammer."

He was applauded as he described it as the welding of Soviet Chinese, Korean and Japanese labor against the United States in the Orient. This will, he said, drive us right out of our vital bases or smash us.

There is no doubt that the Japanese unions can seize much of the Nipponese government and hurl that land into sanguinary civil war.

Those unions, called Sohyo, now control virtually all vital Japanese government and private communications, transportation, and administrative bureaus.

BLUNTLY, this is the fault of American military government officials who ran Japan in 1945.

Investigation will prove that those men permitted the new Nippon officials to pay the leaders of Communist labor organizations.

These American officers also permitted the conquered Japanese government to supply the Communist union organizers and their new anti-American labor units with headquarters, office equipment, newsprint for propaganda publications and even office stationery.

This gave the Soviet agents their chance to infiltrate not only the most stretegic Japanese industries and government bureaus — but our own military bases as well.

Thus, while anti-Soviet labor men went hungry and scrounged for a few yen for organizing efforts, the Moscow-guided Communist agents steadily took control of the big unions which became the Sohyo — the General Council of Japanese Trade Unions.

One of the earliest Sohyo units launched was the All-Japan Garrison Forces Labor Union.

These were the civilian workers on the military installations. One of its first activities was rehearsal for revolution.

It became the basic cadre for Sohyo's actual physical operations against our extension of key Air Force landing strips and depots.

THE SOHYO quite cleverly cut the Japanese islands into 11 sections. Each had its own anti-American labor propaganda group.

In Tokyo alone when I was there, the Sohyo had a 100-man propaganda bureau. At that time the pro-Communist unions put this operation under something called the Sohyo (Military) Base Problem Council.

Today's demonstrations were rehearsed over and over agan by that council's anti-base action cafres. Some of us didn't have to wait until they threw rocks at our diplomats.

We watched — as did the do-nothing Japanese government — the steady Sohyo infiltration of the government. So today the pro-Communists control the Judiciary Employes Union, the Water Supply Workers Union, the Finance Ministry Union, the Radio Wave Control Agency Workers Union, the Electric Communications Workers Union, the Financial Affairs Bureau Workers Union, the Railway Workers Union, the Municipal Transportation Workers Union, the Local and Municipal Workers Union, the Labor Ministry Workers Union, the Teachers Union, the Printing Agency Workers Union and a lot of others in strategic government divisions.

THROUGH SOME of these unions the Communists know virtually every government move — including those of the police.

In private industry, the pro-Soviet officials can shut down the mines, the electrical industry, the long distance rails, the metal mines, the chemical plants, the ports and harbors, the broadcasting system, the iron and steel mills, the telecommunications and marine transportation.

This means the friends of Moscow and Peiping can put 3½ million people into the streets. They can paralyze Japan.

What did we do? What did the Japanese government do?

We and our friends patted the anti-Communist leaders on the shoulders and told them to build Zenro, the anti-Soviet labor federation as a bulwark.

We gave our friends words and little else. Thus did the enemy forge the hammer.

Home Exchange Program

By Bill Pugh

SAN FRANCISCO

From all over the country, they are heading for 29 countries scattered across five continents.

And almost the same number of youthful foreigners are coming to visit the United States under the same program.

These visits are the work of "The Experiment in International Living," which has a motto to cover the situation: "People learn to live together by living together."

Since its foundation by Dr. Donald B. Watt in 1932, almost a hundred thousand people have taken part in the program, either as guest or host.

THE EXPERIMENT, as it is fondly called by participants, is not a travel agency for people looking for a vacation.

Miss Barbara Dirks, assistant director of the recently opened San Francisco office, said that financing an experimenter is not the prime requirement.

"Applicants are carefully screened," Miss Dirks said. "There are some language requirements but we would not expect anyone going to India to know Hindustani. Intelligence, open - mindedness and adaptability to unusual stiuations are necessary."

The fee paid to the experiment, a private nonprofit organization, is mostly for transportation. Rates to western Europe start at about $950 and are more expensive for Africa, the Middle East and Far East.

Scholarship grants are available to exceptional applicants who need financial aid.

Experimenters travel in groups of 10, although groups may be larger or smaller, depending on the country visited and the number of persons involved. Each group is headed by a mature, experienced and well-trained leader.

While en route, the leader conducts informal discussions of the country to be visited, covering subjects from history to national drinking habits.

Every experiment program is built around the 'home stay,' the phase of the program duing which participants of the experiment are placed in suitable homes for the first month of their stay abroad.

Efforts are made to place the experimenter with a family which has children of comparable age. Thus, for a month, the experimenter has a new set of parents and brothers and sisters.

THE SECOND MONTH is spent in an informal trip around the host country. A contemporary member of the host family is encouraged to go with the group on the tour.

"Lasting friendships are established during the experiment," Miss Dirks said. "Not only between experimenters and their new 'families,' but between experimenters from different parts of the United States."

Foreign students and young professional people coming to the United States under the experiment program may pick one of several plans.

Students, and winners of U.S. government scholarships to study here are introduced to the country with a month's homestay before going on to their universities.

For professional groups, the experiment offers homestays which vary from a few days to a month. Since these groups want to learn something of American life and pursue their special interests while in the United States, their programs are arranged to fit their needs.

When To Speak Out

By David Lawrence

Government Critics Should Use Judgment

There is a good deal of discussion going on these days, inside and outside of Congress, as to the propriety of some of the criticisms recently directed toward President Eisenhower with respect to the collapse of the summit conference and the U2 incident.

David Lawrence

Republican leaders in the Senate are saying that it is a mistake for Democratic presidential candidates to be attacking President Eisenhower while he is abroad engaged in very important misions.

One hears, too, from defenders of the Democratic tirades a cry that anyone who questions the timing of the criticism uttered by Democratic spokesmen is therefore against all criticism or in favor of censorship of the press by the government.

One also hears the convenient argument that two wrongs really do make a right, after all, and that certainly those who are advocating nonpartinsanship today were doubtless against any such unity when Democratic presidents were in office.

This correspondent has criticized and defended Presidents from both parties. Thus, for instance, the Republicans in the United States Senate on one occasion signed a round robin, announcing to the world that President Wilson would not have the support of the Senate for entry of the United States into the League of Nations.

When this happened at the time of the big summit conference in Paris in 1919, after the end of World War I, this writer criticized severely the Republican action as undermining the President's power to negotiate in behalf of the United States.

SIMILARLY, in October, 1939, just after World War II broke out, this correspondent again criticized the Republicans for the partisanship maniefsted against a Democratic President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and wrote as follows:

"It is true that some of the Republicans in Congress have gone along with the administration's foreign policy but the majority in the Senate have not. The strange spectacle of a major political party differing with the party in power on a foreign policy question in a period of great crisis has literally driven indignant voters to the Democratic side."

This was just after a Gallup Poll had shown a switch from a 52 per cent majority a few weeks before predicting a Republican victory, to a 65 per cent majority predicting a Democratic victory in 1940.

The main reason, as commented on by this writer, was the uncalled-for partisan attack by Republicans on the Democratic administration.

Prior to the Yalta Conference in January 1945, these dispatches called attention to the absence of partisanship inside and outside of Congress, and it was written here that, "At no time since the war began has there been such a unnaminity of sentiment on both sides of the political aisle as there is today."

Then, in June, 1950, when another Democratic President, Harry Truman, took the all-important step of ordering our military forces nto action in Korea, this correspondent reported: "There is no more partisan politics now, as both parties get behind the President in a remarkable demonstration of unity before all the world."

THE IDEA advanced in some quarters recently that those who decry partisanship in the midst of an international crisis are, therefore, against all forms of criticism is absurd on its face.

Nobody objects to criticism of any governmental policy but there is a time and place for everything.

One does not like to see Cyrus Eaton parading around Communist countries heaping criticism on his own government, though he does posess the legal right of free speech.

One doesn't like to read his comments to the Communist press that a Democratic president would be better for the Russians in 1961 than a Republican.

One also doesn't like to see efforts made in Congress today to publicize military information about our missiles or about our system of handling U2 flights at the very time that Nikita Khrushchev is engaged in a crusade of insults against the President of the United States.

No governmental censorship of of the press need ever be imposed but self-restraint can be imposed by conscience and a feeling of patrotism can be engendered, so that all concerned would forego opportunities to publicize things that for military reasons should remain secret.

There will be plenty of chances between now and election day in November for Democratic party speakers to rake the administration over the coals for various things, national and international but there is a wrong time and a right time for such criticism.

When Nikita Khrushchev and the Moscow radio were flaring forth their insults was certainly the wrong time and that's the point this writer has endeavored to make.

When a fnal decision has been made, however, or a negotiation has been completed, ther is plenty of opportunity for criticism of the results.

This writer criticized some of the provisions of the agreements made at the Yalta Conference when formally submitted to Congress.

He criticized also the Korean armistice agreement, not only when President Truman approved its main provisions but when President Eisenhower, feeling bound by what his predecessor had agreed to, also approved the pact.

Discussion is always healthy. The critics, however, who give aid and comfort to the enemy in a crisis do so unwittingly and not deliberately.

It is the judgment they display, rather than their loyalty, which is open to question and subject to condemnation.

Time A Main Villain

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

Time was one of the main villains in piling up disaster for President Eisenhower.

Any future president who agrees to a summit conference or a foreign journey can learn from Eisenhower's misfortune by going as soon as possible after deciding to go.

Delay — and the unforeseen events delay made possible — spoiled what could have been a happy year for Eisenhower.

He and Premier Nikita Khrushchev, when they met here last September, cleared the way for a summit meeting. But it wasn't until December that those two men and the other Western leaders decided when to hold it.

They set the date: May 16 in Paris, five months later. At that time Khrushchev had a warm glow toward the President. He gave his own Communist world a big sales pitch on friendly relations with the West.

If the meeting had been held in January or February there wouldn't have been time for anything to spoil. But it became pretty well spoiled during the five-month lag between deciding on the meeting and holding it.

The Western foreign ministers, together and individually, did a lot of talking in statements indicating the summit wouldn't amount to much.

This angered Khrushchev. He did some talking back. The warm glow slowly evaporated. A chill began to envelop the summit before it could start.

And, of course, if it had been held months earlier there would not have been the incident of the American U2 spy plane downed over Russia May 1, just two weeks before the summit.

All these things, plus the Eisenhower administration's handling of the U2 plane explanation, put Khrushchev into a ferocious mood in which he wrecked the summit and called off Eisenhower's trip to Russia.

Just a year ago Thursday there was an angry mood in the making in Japan against the new American-Japanese defense treaty. The Communists, naturally, were against it.

On June 16, 1959 the General Council of Trade Unions in Japan agreed to cooperate with the Japanese Communists against approval of the treaty. This formed the background for what followed.

Last Nov. 27 more than 460 people in Japan were injured in anti-treaty riots. There were more riots Jan. 16, 1960 when Premier Nobusuke Kishi left Japan for Washington to sign the treaty.

Kishi and Eisenhower signed it here Jan. 19. The next day Eisenhower accepted Kishi's invitation to visit Japan in June when the President was to be returning home from a tour of Russia.

It would seem Eisenhower and his advisers, with the memory of the anti-treaty riots in Japan still fresh in mind, might have thought it wiser for him not to risk a repetition of them by visiting Tokyo.

Instead, as it turned out, his visit to japan was arranged for June 19, the day on which the treaty was to come into force.

Perhaps the President and those close to him were beguiled by the thought that after the summit meeting the President would make a triumphal tour of Russia and, with Khrushchev beaming on him, the Japanese Communists could be expected to stay quiet.

The Commies Have Not Won Yet

Americans can heave a sigh of relief that President Eisenhower is not going to Japan. Many considered the personal danger too great and the fears were increased by the riotous attack on James Hagerty last week and by the open concern of the President's Secret Service bodyguard.

But Mr. Eisenhower also must be admired for his display of personal courage. To have canceled the trip while the Japanese government's invitation still stood would have seriously damaged the prestige of the United States as a nation. He was not willing to do that merely to save his own comfort.

Withdrawal of the invitation by Premier Kishi, therefore, has done the United States and its chief executive a service by taking us off the hook.

THERE REMAINS, however, the big question of what effect cancellation of the visit will have in the current deep freeze of the cold war.

The Communists, true to form, are claiming it proves the bankruptcy of the Kishi government. They are jubilant at the idea that a leftist minority has forced the Japanese government to back down and drag the United States with it.

Some people on our side of the fence are inclined to agree with the Communists. They are willing to admit the Kremlin has won this skirmish and that the United States is irrevocably humiliated in its defeat.

But such a judgment may be premature. The battle is not over. Its final outcome is primarily in the hands of the Kishi government and at this moment it is too early to tell what that outcome will be.

The Premier's remarks at the time of his announcement that the invitation had been withdrawn were forceful and confident, even if glum. He said, "We must fight this violence head-on."

IF HE CAN BE TAKEN at his word, this would indicate the invitation was withdrawn for two reasons:

1. Premier Kishi no longer felt he could guarantee the safety of the President and did not want to run the risk of bearing the blame for personal attack on the head of a friendly foreign state.

2. He believes the time has come for a forceful, showdown stand against the Communist minority and this will require the full attention of him and his government, undiverted by a state visit.

Despite the violent demonstrations by his leftist opponents, the Premier has several factors in his favor in such a showdown:

1. His party holds an overwhelming elected majority in the Diet, indicating he is not being rosy-eyed when he says 15,000 rioters do not represent the thinking of 70 million Japanese.

2. The mutual security treaty with the United States, which served as the launching pad for the Red riots, is probably the most favorable treaty any defeated nation ever received from its conqueror. The pact recognizes Japanese doubts about U.S. bases on its territory by providing that the United States will help protect Japan against attack but will obtain approval from it before using bases for military action elsewhere.

3. Several leftist groups responsible for earlier demonstrations had conceded that public opinion was turning against them. The riot which precipitated withdrawal of the invitation to the President very well might intensify that public reaction.

THESE FACTORS may not be enough to justify an optimistic outlook but they show that many influences make the Japanese situation a highly complex one in which it is impossible to predict causes and effects in black-and-white terms.

The Communists are skillful strategists, accustomed to working through minorities, and, directed from Moscow and Peiping, they are fighting for big stakes—the immediate degradation of the United States and President Eisenhower in the eyes of the world and upset of a government friendly to the West.

If the Kishi government falls, especially without achieving ratification of the U.S. treaty, a victory by the Communists will have to be conceded.

But if it stands, it will prove that the West can and should refuse to be cowed by Communist conspiracies to undermine peace and order.

That would be a signal victory for the forces of freedom. The possibility of achieving it should not be written off by premature judgments of gloom.

Waiting For The First Step

Ungrounded electric wiring in a home on W. 4th St., an unvented gas water heater in Pleasant Heights and faulty plumbing in an East End structure add up to a sampling of hazards and unsightliness that have too long been a part of this city.

Infringement of commercial businesses into strictly residential districts, unregulated dividing of building lots for crowded home construction and haphazard development of real estate is another traditional local pattern whose revision is long overdue.

The current edition of "Ohio Cities and Villages," published by the Ohio Municipal League, declares,

"The most important vehicle available to our communities in guiding their growth is the comprehensive plan; including plans for use of land; transportation facilities, whether air, water, truck or rail, and major thorofare systems; and provisions for public services, whether school, recreation, public buildings or utilities.

"TOOLS NECESSARY to make the plan work are zoning, subdivision regulations, mapped streets, urban renewal, capital improvement programs and last, but not least, regulation of physical structures themselves through building codes."

A year ago this month the city Planning Commission submitted to council a recommendation for adoption of building codes, based on a plan drawn up by the National Board of Fire Underwriters.

The building code proposal, along with the commission's tentative ideas for a master development plan — first step to federal aid for urban renewal — were discussed with Council and the new administration in March. All agreed some sort of a start — no matter how small — should be made, and the Commission was asked to supply further details and revisions.

The problem of financing the programs is certainly not insignificant, and we have a number of other municipal needs which are pressing.

Nevertheless, the recent census figures, showing the trend of population shift to the suburbs, indicate the need for some short-time action on our long-term programs for the future.

WE BELIEVE Council and the administration are sincere in their agreement that "something should be done," and hope that the meeting scheduled later this month will provide some definite action.

We certainly don't want interest in building codes to stem from an unnecessary fire such as that which claimed four lives in the East End about two years ago.

And we hope a redevelopment program doesn't have to spring from the near hopelessness of an almost unreclaimable "ghost town," although our faith in the future of the city rules out that fate.

The greater danger is that the costs of the programs will continue to mount as we delay initial action, and that whatever financial aid we could be getting is going to go elsewhere.

Council deserves ample time for study of the complex proposals and the ramifications involved, but if a step is to be taken, it should be soon.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

London doctor says parents shouldn't stop quarreling in front of kids. Letting moppets look on helps them understand the whole routine, he says.

Once they get accustomed to it, they realize the folly of such tactics.

The doctor is old hat. A scrap between mom and pop used to strike kids as thrilling but such encounters today can't hold their attention. Raised on TV shows, especially Westerns, they turn away from battling parents with a scornful, "they hit each other only ONCE!"

"Should your parents fight in front of you?" we asked a 14-year-old girl. "I don't care and probably wouldn't even notice it," she replied. "Our family has its share of battles, but they lack punch, fury and cruelty."

Urged to explain, the kid continued: "Dad is always satisfied if he floors mother with one blow. He never follows up by lifting her up and slugging her another half dozen times like they do in all screen battles."

"Mother got in the first haymaker last night," interrupted little Willie, "using a brass lamp with a full windup. It knocked father cold but what did she do? Stomp on him, belt him with a chair and roll all over the place, upsetting all the furniture like they do on TV? No, she lost the fight by calling it off because he was unconscious. She's lost several fireside quarrels that way."

"Do you agree with the British doctor who says parents should never hesitate to fight in the presence of children" a lad was asked. "What difference does it make? We kids walk out on 'em anyhow and switch to some real fights," the boy replied.

AN ALL-COMEDIAN program was put on for three hours on TV late the other evening. (Westerns and private eyes of the entertainment world, UNITE!) When comedians get a three-hour program, an entertainment crisis is at hand. The best most cowboy films can get is only an 8 hour. They have to ride in and out between commercials. TV detectives, with few exceptions, have to show similar speed. Rare is the soap opera that gets a full hour. A three-hour stretch for comics was revolutionary. Not even overtime ball games last that long. What hath TV wrought!

Reactions differed. Some critics cheered the experiment; others thought three hours would be too much for Will Rogers, Mark Twain or the other great funnymen of history.

Census showed 20,000 fewer people in New York City. But they may have been in elevators or waiting for "WALK" signs during the census. Or maybe stalled in vehicular tubes.

Yanks have had such tough luck on ball field they are about ready to concede that if they carried four-leaf clovers the other side would have rabbits' feet in the official lineup.

Ralph Bellamy, playing part of late Franklin D. Roosevelt, appeared on streets of Gotham. We hear more than one surviving Tory looked on in amazement, cried, "Oh, no!" and made for the river.

Too Many Fancy Frills

By Victor Riesel

Having successfully lowered the Bamboo and Iron Curtains around itself, the Communists' international "apparat" now is preparing to raise "the Iron Hammer" against us. The "Iron Hammer" phrase was first used inside a closed conference room in Peiping during a five day session of Communist labor leaders from across the world.

Victor Riesel

They were the supreme strategists of the Soviets' World Federation of Trade Unions.

The parley, during which anti-American and anti-Eisenhower strategy was gleefully devised, began on the morning of June 5. It wound up the morning of June 9. I have a monitoring of the discussions in that guarded room.

It was a Japanese union chief, Minoru Takano, one of the directors of labor mob action on Tokyo's streets, who first spoke of the "Iron Hammer."

He was applauded as he described it as the welding of Soviet Chinese, Korean and Japanese labor against the United States in the Orient. This will, he said, drive us right out of our vital bases or smash us.

There is no doubt that the Japanese unions can seize much of the Nipponese government and hurl that land into sanguinary civil war.

Those unions, called Sohyo, now control virtually all vital Japanese government and private communications, transportation, and administrative bureaus.

BLUNTLY, this is the fault of American military government officials who ran Japan in 1945.

Investigation will prove that those men permitted the new Nippon officials to pay the leaders of Communist labor organizations.

These American officers also permitted the conquered Japanese government to supply the Communist union organizers and their new anti-American labor units with headquarters, office equipment, newsprint for propaganda publications and even office stationery.

This gave the Soviet agents their chance to infiltrate not only the most stretegic Japanese industries and government bureaus — but our own military bases as well.

Thus, while anti-Soviet labor men went hungry and scrounged for a few yen for organizing efforts, the Moscow-guided Communist agents steadily took control of the big unions which became the Sohyo — the General Council of Japanese Trade Unions.

One of the earliest Sohyo units launched was the All-Japan Garrison Forces Labor Union.

These were the civilian workers on the military installations. One of its first activities was rehearsal for revolution.

It became the basic cadre for Sohyo's actual physical operations against our extension of key Air Force landing strips and depots.

THE SOHYO quite cleverly cut the Japanese islands into 11 sections. Each had its own anti-American labor propaganda group.

In Tokyo alone when I was there, the Sohyo had a 100-man propaganda bureau. At that time the pro-Communist unions put this operation under something called the Sohyo (Military) Base Problem Council.

Today's demonstrations were rehearsed over and over agan by that council's anti-base action cafres. Some of us didn't have to wait until they threw rocks at our diplomats.

We watched — as did the do-nothing Japanese government — the steady Sohyo infiltration of the government. So today the pro-Communists control the Judiciary Employes Union, the Water Supply Workers Union, the Finance Ministry Union, the Radio Wave Control Agency Workers Union, the Electric Communications Workers Union, the Financial Affairs Bureau Workers Union, the Railway Workers Union, the Municipal Transportation Workers Union, the Local and Municipal Workers Union, the Labor Ministry Workers Union, the Teachers Union, the Printing Agency Workers Union and a lot of others in strategic government divisions.

THROUGH SOME of these unions the Communists know virtually every government move — including those of the police.

In private industry, the pro-Soviet officials can shut down the mines, the electrical industry, the long distance rails, the metal mines, the chemical plants, the ports and harbors, the broadcasting system, the iron and steel mills, the telecommunications and marine transportation.

This means the friends of Moscow and Peiping can put 3½ million people into the streets. They can paralyze Japan.

What did we do? What did the Japanese government do?

We and our friends patted the anti-Communist leaders on the shoulders and told them to build Zenro, the anti-Soviet labor federation as a bulwark.

We gave our friends words and little else. Thus did the enemy forge the hammer.

Home Exchange Program

By Bill Pugh

SAN FRANCISCO

This summer hundreds of young Americans are going abroad for a unique experience.

From all over the country, they are heading for 29 countries scattered across five continents.

And almost the same number of youthful foreigners are coming to visit the United States under the same program.

These visits are the work of "The Experiment in International Living," which has a motto to cover the situation: "People learn to live together by living together."

Since its foundation by Dr. Donald B. Watt in 1932, almost a hundred thousand people have taken part in the program, either as guest or host.

THE EXPERIMENT, as it is fondly called by participants, is not a travel agency for people looking for a vacation.

Miss Barbara Dirks, assistant director of the recently opened San Francisco office, said that financing an experimenter is not the prime requirement.

"Applicants are carefully screened," Miss Dirks said. "There are some language requirements but we would not expect anyone going to India to know Hindustani. Intelligence, open - mindedness and adaptability to unusual stiuations are necessary."

The fee paid to the experiment, a private nonprofit organization, is mostly for transportation. Rates to western Europe start at about $950 and are more expensive for Africa, the Middle East and Far East.

Scholarship grants are available to exceptional applicants who need financial aid.

Experimenters travel in groups of 10, although groups may be larger or smaller, depending on the country visited and the number of persons involved. Each group is headed by a mature, experienced and well-trained leader.

While en route, the leader conducts informal discussions of the country to be visited, covering subjects from history to national drinking habits.

Every experiment program is built around the 'home stay,' the phase of the program duing which participants of the experiment are placed in suitable homes for the first month of their stay abroad.

Efforts are made to place the experimenter with a family which has children of comparable age. Thus, for a month, the experimenter has a new set of parents and brothers and sisters.

THE SECOND MONTH is spent in an informal trip around the host country. A contemporary member of the host family is encouraged to go with the group on the tour.

"Lasting friendships are established during the experiment," Miss Dirks said. "Not only between experimenters and their new 'families,' but between experimenters from different parts of the United States."

Foreign students and young professional people coming to the United States under the experiment program may pick one of several plans.

Students, and winners of U.S. government scholarships to study here are introduced to the country with a month's homestay before going on to their universities.

For professional groups, the experiment offers homestays which vary from a few days to a month. Since these groups want to learn something of American life and pursue their special interests while in the United States, their programs are arranged to fit their needs.

When To Speak Out

By David Lawrence

Government Critics Should Use Judgment

There is a good deal of discussion going on these days, inside and outside of Congress, as to the propriety of some of the criticisms recently directed toward President Eisenhower with respect to the collapse of the summit conference and the U2 incident.

David Lawrence

Republican leaders in the Senate are saying that it is a mistake for Democratic presidential candidates to be attacking President Eisenhower while he is abroad engaged in very important misions.

One hears, too, from defenders of the Democratic tirades a cry that anyone who questions the timing of the criticism uttered by Democratic spokesmen is therefore against all criticism or in favor of censorship of the press by the government.

One also hears the convenient argument that two wrongs really do make a right, after all, and that certainly those who are advocating nonpartinsanship today were doubtless against any such unity when Democratic presidents were in office.

This correspondent has criticized and defended Presidents from both parties. Thus, for instance, the Republicans in the United States Senate on one occasion signed a round robin, announcing to the world that President Wilson would not have the support of the Senate for entry of the United States into the League of Nations.

When this happened at the time of the big summit conference in Paris in 1919, after the end of World War I, this writer criticized severely the Republican action as undermining the President's power to negotiate in behalf of the United States.

SIMILARLY, in October, 1939, just after World War II broke out, this correspondent again criticized the Republicans for the partisanship maniefsted against a Democratic President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, and wrote as follows:

"It is true that some of the Republicans in Congress have gone along with the administration's foreign policy but the majority in the Senate have not. The strange spectacle of a major political party differing with the party in power on a foreign policy question in a period of great crisis has literally driven indignant voters to the Democratic side."

This was just after a Gallup Poll had shown a switch from a 52 per cent majority a few weeks before predicting a Republican victory, to a 65 per cent majority predicting a Democratic victory in 1940.

The main reason, as commented on by this writer, was the uncalled-for partisan attack by Republicans on the Democratic administration.

Prior to the Yalta Conference in January 1945, these dispatches called attention to the absence of partisanship inside and outside of Congress, and it was written here that, "At no time since the war began has there been such a unanimity of sentiment on both sides of the political aisle as there is today."

Then, in June, 1950, when another Democratic President, Harry Truman, took the all-important step of ordering our military forces nto action in Korea, this correspondent reported: "There is no more partisan politics now, as both parties get behind the President in a remarkable demonstration of unity before all the world."

THE IDEA advanced in some quarters recently that those who decry partisanship in the midst of an international crisis are, therefore, against all forms of criticism is absurd on its face.

Nobody objects to criticism of any governmental policy but there is a time and place for everything.

One does not like to see Cyrus Eaton parading around Communist countries heaping criticism on his own government, though he does posess the legal right of free speech.

One doesn't like to read his comments to the Communist press that a Democratic president would be better for the Russians in 1961 than a Republican.

One also doesn't like to see efforts made in Congress today to publicize military information about our missiles or about our system of handling U2 flights at the very time that Nikita Khrushchev is engaged in a crusade of insults against the President of the United States.

No governmental censorship of the press need ever be imposed but self-restraint can be imposed by conscience and a feeling of patrotism can be engendered, so that all concerned would forego opportunities to publicize things that for military reasons should remain secret.

There will be plenty of chances between now and election day in November for Democratic party speakers to rake the administration over the coals for various things, national and international but there is a wrong time and a right time for such criticism.

When Nikita Khrushchev and the Moscow radio were flaring forth their insults was certainly the wrong time and that's the point this writer has endeavored to make.

When a fnal decision has been made, however, or a negotiation has been completed, ther is plenty of opportunity for criticism of the results.

This writer criticized some of the provisions of the agreements made at the Yalta Conference when formally submitted to Congress.

He criticized also the Korean armistice agreement, not only when President Truman approved its main provisions but when President Eisenhower, feeling bound by what his predecessor had agreed to, also approved the pact.

Building Plan Gets Approval

Industry Council Wednesday evening approved an agreement with Dawson Ridge Farms, Inc., for a proposed lease purchase of borough offices.

The agreement is subject to the federal government's approval of a bid by Michael Baker Jr., of his Rochester engineering firm, for a Post Office and combined borough offices. Baker heads Dawson Ridge Farms.

Council passed a resolution directing Calvan Dunlap, president, to sign the agreement.

The agreement is in accordance with a proposal made by the firm within the last 30 days. The bid deadline for the Post Office is Monday.

Council also passed a resolution doing away with a requirement for a side yard of at least 10 feet on each lot in commercial zones. The change was made since it was learned that Industry is the only borough in Beaver County with the requirement.

A public meeting was set for July 13 at 8 p. m. in the fire hall for hearing proposed changes in zoning ordinances for the proposed Post Office and borough offices.

Next meeting is July 6.

In connection with the wages of U. S. potters and similar workers in Japan, he pointed out that the average hourly rate in American plants is $2, while the Japanese scales "do not even approach one third of that level."

Home Looted; $532 Loss Set

A downtown householder told police Thursday night his home was looted of clothing, appliances and other items worth a total of $523 while he was absent Wednesday night.

The loss was reported at 8 last night by Jack Alley, 501 College St., who said his home was looted between 9:30 and 11:30 p. m. Wednesday. There was no indication how entry was gained, police reported.

Alley said the loss included: A Hamilton electric watch worth $105, binoculars worth $40, a travel alarm clock worth $6, a clock radio valued at $49, another radio worth $10, a gray suit valued at $103, an overcoat worth $85 and a woman's black velvet coat worth $125.

One minor theft also was reported yesterday. Joseph Yeager, 419 Church Ln., told police Thursday afternoon a hubcap was stolen from his 1957 model auto while it was parked near his home.

Also up for action today are a 1½ billion-dollar water projects authorization bill and a money measure carrying more than four billion dollars for the health-education-welfare and labor departments.

The Senate housing bill carries funds for college dormitory loans, slum clearance, and a variety of programs designed to help provide housing for veterans and other citizens.

It is similar to a $1,365,000,000 omnibus housing measure already approved by the House Banking committee.

Asked how Eisenhower felt about the turn of events, Hagerty replied: "He expressed his attitude yesterday. He squarely placed the blame for the postponement of the Japanese trip on those elements controlled by the Communists under external (meaning Moscow and Peiping) direction and control."

Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II was reported to have sent the President "quite a few" cables telling of his latest talks with Japanese government leaders.

Virtually the entire 7th Fleet—125 warships and 500 planes—was on patrol to guard Eisenhower as he sailed through the South China Sea toward Formosa. At one point on the 780-mile voyage, his route lay within 125 miles of Red China's coastline.

Ohio, Marshal Counties Face 'Crime' Quiz

CHARLES TOWN — The chief counsel for the West Virginia Crime Commission plans a trip to the Northern Panhandle next week to see for himself if there has been a lack of law enforcement.

F. Dean Nichols said he plans to confer with officials in Marshall and Ohio counties Monday and Tuesday.

Nichols also said Thursday that he is interested in reports of gambling activities.

In all probability, the commission will hold hearings on crime in the Northern Panhandle.

"But first we have to determine what sort of problems exist there," Nichols said from his law office in Charles Town.

The commission's two investigators, R. Lucien Maddox, a former FBI agent, and W. W. Murphy, former State Police captain, already have done some preliminary work in counties in the upper Ohio River Valley.

"The Wheeling area is in a unique position from most of the rest of the state," Nichols explained. "It is right between Pennsylvania and Ohio and a lot of people moving in there are used to doing things the way they do in the adjoining states."

Nichols said that since the Pennsylvania attorney general outlawed multiple pinball machines, there have been reports of large shipments of the coin devices into Wheeling.

"We would like to know whether they've brought slot machines in, too, and whether these multiple machines have been stored or are in operation," Nichols said.

said. The point of the crash was between Wyoming and Sanford Aves., officers said.

Another motorist was charged with reckless driving as a result of a collision at 7:45 p. m. Thursday on Virginia Ave. at Pennsylvania Ave.

Officers filed charges against Edward L. Cain, 19, of 719 E. 4th St. after a collision between his 1957 four-door sedan and another 1957 four-door operated by Ray Cusick, 49, of 1202 St. George St.

Pleading guilty today in Municipal Court, Cain was fined $10 and costs. Police said Cain turned his auto off Pennsylvania Ave. and struck the Cusick car, which was the third in a line of traffic on Virginia Ave. awaiting an opportunity to pull onto the main thoroughfare.

Newell Youth Unhurt When Auto Overturns

A Newell youth escaped injury when his auto upset Thursday night and another Newell driver was cited for driving while intoxicated, the Hancock County sheriff's office reported today.

Larry Hutton, 16, of Grant St., was attempting to pass on Route 66 south of Waterford Park when his auto upset, the sheriff's office said.

Deputies said the youth was cited for failure to have his auto under control and will be given a hearing before a local squire. Deputies listed $500 damage to Hutton's 1959 model Pontiac. The mishap was timed at 11:30 p. m.

Brady Gale Mercer, 25, of Harrison St., was cited at 1:30 a. m. today on Washington St., Newell, for driving while intoxicated, deputies said. He was to receive a hearing today before Squire John D. Herron of New Cumberland.

Woman Killed

CARNEGIE — An Oakdale R. D. 1 woman, believed a waitress on her way home from work, was killed when her auto veered off the Penn-Lincoln Parkway and down a 500 foot bank about 4 a. m. The Carnegie barracks of the Pennsylvania State Police said Forina Ciampia may have had a heart attack or fell asleep.

Red China

A New China News Agency broadcast heard here declared: "This decision of ours is solely to make a demonstration against United States imperialism. For your safety, advance notice is hereby given."

The Communists have been shelling Quemoy sporadically on odd-numbered days for 20 months in accordance with a self-proclaimed partial cease-fire.

Presumably the broadcast meant the barrages would be heavier than the 10 to 60 or 70 shells usually fired by the Red guns a few miles away on the Communist-held mainland.

The Communist shelling was not expected to cause undue alarm on Formosa, since the wording of the broadcast indicated the barrage would not be the prelude to an invasion attempt on Quemoy.

Since the Communists' massive artillery attacks on Quemoy in the late summer of 1958, the Nationalists have strongly fortified the island.

The Communist broadcast said the shelling would "show the great Chinese people's contempt and scorn for Eisenhower."

It said Friday and Sunday were chosen "in accordance with the ruling of shelling on odd days" and because Friday is the eve of Eisenhower's arrival in Formosa, 110 miles east of the offshore islands, and Sunday is the day of his departure for Okinawa.

were 169 Ohio titles and 25 from out-of-state, he testified.

Auto titles are kept in the clerk of courts' office and in the BMV office at Columbus until they are canceled, Lisk said. There is a chain of as high as 25 titles to some old cars which have changed hands many time and all of those titles clog the files until the car is "written off the books" as junk, he said.

In a similar case Thursday, Clarence Blosser of R. D. 1, cited by the State Highway Patrol for failure to turn in titles, was fined $50 and costs by County Judge Earl Spalding at East Palestine.

Blosser was given a suspension of a 90-day jail term, along with suspension of $150 of a $200 fine.

Vacation Pay Slated

EAST PALESTINE — Some $33,000 in vacation pay was to be distributed today to 175 workers of the Kenmar Manufacturing Co., which was to shut down for the annual two-week vacation, resuming the first week of July. In 1959, about 200 workers received $42,000 vacation pay.

Building Plan Gets Approval

Industry Council Wednesday evening approved an agreement with Dawson Ridge Farms, Inc., for a proposed lease purchase of borough offices.

The agreement is subject to the federal government's approval of a bid by Michael Baker Jr., of his Rochester engineering firm, for a Post Office and combined borough offices. Baker heads Dawson Ridge Farms.

Council passed a resolution directing Calvan Dunlap, president, to sign the agreement.

The agreement is in accordance with a proposal made by the firm within the last 30 days. The bid deadline for the Post Office is Monday.

Council also passed a resolution doing away with a requirement for a side yard of at least 10 feet on each lot in commercial zones. The change was made since it was learned that Industry is the only borough in Beaver County with the requirement.

A public meeting was set for July 13 at 8 p. m. in the fire hall for hearing proposed changes in zoning ordinances for the proposed Post Office and borough offices.

Next meeting is July 6.

In connection with the wages of U. S. potters and similar workers in Japan, he pointed out that the average hourly rate in American plants is $2, while the Japanese scales "do not even approach one third of that level."

Concluding he declared that State Department diplomats, congressmen and others who believe in "open door free trade" should tour West Virginia, Kentucky and Pennsylvania areas and the Zanesville-Crooksville and East Liverpool districts in Ohio as examples of "surplus labor areas where no jobs are available for this class of citizens."

Home Looted; $532 Loss Set

A downtown householder told police Thursday night his home was looted of clothing, appliances and other items worth a total of $523 while he was absent Wednesday night.

The loss was reported at 8 last night by Jack Alley, 501 College St., who said his home was looted between 9:30 and 11:30 p. m. Wednesday. There was no indication how entry was gained, police reported.

Alley said the loss included: A Hamilton electric watch worth $105, binoculars worth $40, a travel alarm clock worth $6, a clock radio valued at $49, another radio worth $10, a gray suit valued at $103, an overcoat worth $85 and a woman's black velvet coat worth $125.

One minor theft also was reported yesterday. Joseph Yeager, 419 Church Ln., told police Thursday afternoon a hubcap was stolen from his 1957 model auto while it was parked near his home.

a House-passed bill to provide a 7½ per cent pay raise for more than 1½ million federal employes.

Also up for action today are a 1½ billion-dollar water projects authorization bill and a money measure carrying more than four billion dollars for the health-education-welfare and labor departments.

The Senate housing bill carries funds for college dormitory loans, slum clearance, and a variety of programs designed to help provide housing for veterans and other citizens.

It is similar to a $1,365,000,000 omnibus housing measure already approved by the House Banking committee.

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala), sponsor of the bill, accepted Republican amendments chopping out of the measure 134 million in federal loan and grant funds.

He refused to go along with a GOP move to cut 50 million off the 350 million in the bill for urban renewal. This was beaten.

travel plans. Hagerty said he was calm and unruffled despite the international furor resulting from cancellation of his Japanese trip.

Asked how Eisenhower felt about the turn of events, Hagerty replied: "He expressed his attitude yesterday. He squarely placed the blame for the postponement of the Japanese trip on those elements controlled by the Communists under external (meaning Moscow and Peiping) direction and control."

Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II was reported to have sent the President "quite a few" cables telling of his latest talks with Japanese government leaders.

Virtually the entire 7th Fleet—125 warships and 500 planes—was on patrol to guard Eisenhower as he sailed through the South China Sea toward Formosa. At one point on the 780-mile voyage, his route lay within 125 miles of Red China's coastline.

Ohio, Marshal Counties Face 'Crime' Quiz

CHARLES TOWN — The chief counsel for the West Virginia Crime Commission plans a trip to the Northern Panhandle next week to see for himself if there has been a lack of law enforcement.

F. Dean Nichols said he plans to confer with officials in Marshall and Ohio counties Monday and Tuesday.

Nichols also said Thursday that he is interested in reports of gambling activities.

In all probability, the commission will hold hearings on crime in the Northern Panhandle.

"But first we have to determine what sort of problems exist there," Nichols said from his law office in Charles Town.

Kindergarten Set For Beaver Local

A summer kindergarten for Beaver Local School District will start Tuesday at Calcutta and Elkton Schools, George VanHorne, executive head, announced today.

Some 70 pupils are expected to attend the classes from 8:45 to 11:30 a. m. daily through July 29, VanHorne said.

Pupils must be 6 on or before Nov. 1 to enter first grade in the fall. Registration will be held Monday at the 2 centers from 9 to 11:30 a. m.

Pupils from the Rogers, Elkton, West Point and Oak Grove area will sign up at the Elkton School, where Mrs. Lucille Possage will be instructor and Calcutta district pupils will register at the Calcutta School, where Mrs. Lee Tice will be teacher.

Kindergarten is being held during the summer because of the lack of classroom space during regular terms. Pupils will have July 4, off, VanHorne said. Parents must provide transportation.

Census Figures Put U.S. At 179½ Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record growth of 28 million in the last decade has rocketed the U.S. population to 179½ million, says the Census Bureau.

The total is subject to revision. The figure released Thursday was based on the actual count of 177,733,190 persons and on estimates of those still to be listed.

Census officials credited the big increase during the 1950s to a climbing birth rate and a continued low death rate. By comparison, the increase in the 1940s was 19 million. In the 1930s it was 8,900,000.

Thursday's totals came from quick tabulations by field offices. The detailed final count will be announced later.

Census Figures Put U.S. At 179½ Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—A record growth of 28 million in the last decade has rocketed the U.S. population to 179½ million, says the Census Bureau.

The total is subject to revision. The figure released Thursday was based on the actual count of 177,733,190 persons and on estimates of those still to be listed.

Census officials credited the big increase during the 1950s to a climbing birth rate and a continued low death rate. By comparison, the increase in the 1940s was 19 million. In the 1930s it was 8,900,000.

Thursday's totals came from quick tabulations by field offices. The detailed final count will be announced later.

Foods and Dreams

- Fever Convulsions
- Kidney Stones

Q. Why do some foods—like cheese—make people dream?

A. So far as can be determined, there is no scientific evidence that cheese or any other food causes dreams.

Q. What causes convulsions in some children when they run a slight fever? Is there any medication to prevent fever convulsions?

P.S. — I enjoy reading Medical Mirror very much and find it helpful. — A faithful reader.

A. Some type of brain disorder is present in the majority of children who have fever convulsions. In almost half the cases there is a family history of similar convulsions, indicating a hereditary trend. Medical studies show that a convulsion is a serious symptom in childhood and deserves careful medical investigation. The physician may or may not prescribe drugs, depending upon the final diagnosis.

Q. Is there any way to remove kidney stones other than by surgery?

A. Doctors have been searching for years for a way to remove kidney stones without surgery. Nothing very promising has turned up. Several things make it difficult to find a satisfactory dissolving agent for kidney stones. For one thing, the stones are not all of the same chemical composition so that what dissolves one won't touch another. Secondly, it is difficult to find a solvent or dissolving solution that is not irritating to bladder and kidney tissues. Some progress is being made but at the moment surgery is about the only way to remove stones that are too large to be passed.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Two weeks ago I decided to form a club. I got two other girls my age (12 years old) to join. They elected me president. The purpose of the club is to be friends and do interesting things.

No matter what I want to do they are against it. We take a vote and I lose. If I want to go bowling, they vote for a movie. When I want to go skating they vote to go dime store shopping.

I'm afraid I'm going to lose my presidency if I can't think of a way to get some unity into the club in a hurry. How can I do it? — MADAME President.

Dear Madame: A president is not supposed to inflict his will on the members. In a democracy the majority rules — not the president.

Why not take in a few additional members. They might have some brand new ideas and the club would be more fun. (It could shift the balance of power, too.)

Broken Promises

Dear Ann: Recently I married after being a widow for 10 years. The man I married lost his mate five years ago.

It was agreed when we married that I was to quit my job and do whatever I chose with the small income from my husband's estate. It was further agreed that we'd live on his salary and what was his was mine, also.

Now that we're married he takes me to the market once a week, pushes the cart and I walk behind like a child. If I pick an item off the shelf he says: "Put it back. We don't need it."

He pays the rent and utilities. If I want a piece of clothing, he comes with me to pick it out and he pays for it.

My pocketbook is so empty I keep tissue paper in it so it won't look so flat. Why should I have to beg for money when I was once completely independent and could be that way again if I went back to work? What do you suggest?—J.W.

Dear J.W.: I suggest you sit down with your husband and review the original agreement that you "live on his salary and what's his is yours, also."

Every woman should have some money to spend as she wishes, as a matter of dignity. She's a partner in the marriage, even if shes not bringing home a pay check.

If he doesn't loosen up, tell him you're going back to work and he can pay a housekeeper to cook and clean and follow him around the market when he shops.

Jealousy Showing

Dear Ann: Is it smart to let a husband drive the day-lady (she's younger than I am), my cousin, my sisters and the next-door neighbor to the bus line without me?

Recently when he offered to drive my cousin I suggested he take the kids along for the ride. He blew up and said, "For Pete's sake Helen, cut it out. I don't need a chaperon."

What does this sound like to you? —WONDERING.

Dear Wondering: It sounds like your suspicions are showing. Since you object to his being alone with the cleaning lady, the cousin and the sisters, your jealousy covers a wide range.

If the kids had asked to go along and he said not, it would be different. But when YOU suggest they accompany him it indicates you feel he needs watching. He resents this and he has a right to.

Cut it out, Helen, or you may put ideas in his head.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sanitary Ware Firm's Staffs Win Increase

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters announced today it has signed a new two-year working agreement with the American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corp., covering employes in the firm's plants at Tiffin, Kokomo, Ind., Torrance and San Pablo, Calif., Trenton, N. J., and New Orleans.

The agreement includes a "package" increase of about 10 cents hourly—a general pay boost of 6 cents for all employes and 3½ cents hourly to be applied for improvements in the pension plan, the IBOP said.

The contract will run to May 31, 1962. A clause permits either party to negotiate for a general wage adjustment after the first year.

Other changes include a more liberal vacation plan and a stipulation that piece work rates will be increased on a percentage basis equal to the raise in hourly day-work rates.

At the same time, the IBOP announced an agreement has been reached between Local Unions 45 and 49 in Trenton and the Crane Co., another sanitary ware producer, ending a strike over a new insurance plan.

Earlier, the strike of the 2 locals had been sanctioned by the IBOP Executive Board, clearing the way for the members to collect strike benefits of $25 weekly.

Life Term Looms Following Conviction

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A jury verdict of guilty with a recommendation of mercy means a mandatory life sentence for Charles R. Bean, 21, in the robbery slaying of Walter Tucholski, 53, last Feb. 16. The jury returned the verdict after three hours of deliberation Thursday.

Mrs. Ruth Tucholski, Bean's grandmother with whom the murder victim lived, came here from her daughter's home in Bridgeport, Conn. to ask that the youth's life be spared. Unemotional throughout other parts of the three-day trial, Bean wept at her testimony.

Claimed At 94

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Morris N. Halle, 94, widow of the founder of a wholesale drygoods business here, died Thursday. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Eunice Rosenthal of Columbus and Mrs. Miriam Livingston of Canton, and two sons, Milton and Jay, both of Cleveland. She was the oldest living member of Fairmount Temple.

PRISON CHAPLAIN. Fr. Chairmen said about 150 are expected to attend the dinner. Fr. Felkey is a former resident of Midland.

Five were initiated as new members at a meeting of Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay, Thursday night in the Masonic Temple. About 40 members and 8 advisors were present.

Gary Mackey, master councilor, conducted business and plans were made for about 10 to attend a conclave at Toledo Aug. 1-7.

Roger Hicks, scribe pro tem, read the minutes and conducted roll call of officers. He also read a petition for a new member. Roy Grimes gave the almoner's report. Plans were discussed for holding a square dance in the near future.

Members were asked to contact William Burlingame for information on proposed rifle and drill teams. The interpolation prayer was offered by David Conley, chaplain.

Lunch was served afterwards by the DeMolay Mothers' Circle. Gregory Ganas was a guest. The next meeting is July 7 in the temple.

Gas Station Windows Broken In Vandalism

LISBON — Police are investigating vandalism at the Hanna East End Service Station in which six windows were broken early today.

Patrolman John Varner cruised by the station at 3 a. m. and found nothing amiss but when Floyd Hanna, manager, reported at 6:30 he discovered a 6-x-7-foot window had been broken, along with a big door glass and four side windows.

Varner and Deputy Sheriff Herman Wellmen found no objects inside the station and concluded the vandal had used a club or hammer. The Coen Oil Co. of Canton sent in a repair crew this morning. Hanna's is an outlet for Coen.

Firemen At Glenmoor Launch Carnival Plans

Plans for the proposed carnival were discussed when the Glenmoor volunteer fire department met Thursday night at the fire station with 12 attending. Dates for the event will be set later.

Tony Bisco, chairman, said a ticket sale contest will be held for boys and girls from 12 to 18. Prizes will be awarded. Youngsters may phone Bisco at FU. 5-2736, for information.

The department's two trucks were taken on a trial run.

Library Encyclopedia Sports Bigger, More Comprehensive

Bigger and more comprehensive than ever is Frank G. Menke's "Sports Encyclopedia" now available at the Carnegie Public Library.

Miss Frances Jones, librarian, said it boasts an up-to-date tabulation of past and current records of more than 70 sports.

Harold Seymour explores the background of America's current summer mania in "Baseball, the Early Years." Tom Meany tries to answer the question of "What make a baseball team great?" He uses the medium of "The Yankee Story," telling how a team won 24 pennants and 18 World Series in 40 years.

Bob Considine and Bill Slocum have recorded the funny and the tragic moments in a fighter's life in a volume called "Dempsey."

Two areas presently coming in for their share of the news are well interpreted with books from this week's new book shelf. Melvin M. Belli looks at "Law and Life In Japan." There are no jury trials in this Oriental country even today so that it will be interesting to note the final handling of the current riots.

Stirring up political speculation is "Nelson Rockefeller" and this latest biography is by Joe Alex Morris, who has been preparing the portrait for the past 10 years. Morris is a reporter who has been on the staff of the United Press, the Herald Tribune and Colliers. The machinery of American political conventions is dissected in "Hats In the Ring" by Malcolm Moos and Stephen Hess. These two college professors from Johns Hopkins University take the reader backstage into the densest cigar smoke of the caucus room.

Two popular ladies of the entertainment world have packaged some social advice in book form. Arlene Francis writes about the magic of charm in "That Certain Something." Patti Page has a personal chat with all teen - agers about their problems in "Once Upon a Dream." She attributes much of her successful independence to the fact that she was one of 11 children which made her realize that she would have to provide for herself if she were to get ahead in the world.

Two great names in the entertainment world have been immortalized in biographies. Perle Mesta, the country's most famous official hostess, dictated her own story to Robert Chan and called it simply, "Perle." Charles Chaplin Jr. brings to life one of the world's greatest entertainers in "My Father, Charlie Chaplin." Charles and his brother, Syd, were full of practical jokes.

A frequent request at the library is supplying the information on the value of old books. Van Allen Bradley, literary editor of the Chicago Daily News, is an authority in the field of rare books. "Gold In Your Attic" gives the dollar value of American collector's items. According to Bradley, "Little Women" and the English edition of "Moby Dick" command the highest prices among first editions of fiction titles.

Wife Killed, Husband Injured In Collision

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Clara Christen, 35, of near Painesville, was killed and her husband injured critically in a two - car crash near here Thursday night. Their five children escaped with cuts and bruises.

The driver of the second car, Mrs. Helen Jones, 26, of Perry, and her daughters, Teri, 8, and Shirley, 4, were reported in fair condition after the cars met head-on Ohio 84, two miles east of Painesville.

Driver Convicted

CINCINNATI (AP) — Courtney Smith, 44, of Middletown, was convicted today of driving while under suspension, fined $25 and prohibited from operating an automobile for a year. Police records showed Smith was given a year's driving suspension last Jan. 5 when he was convicted of driving while drunk.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Two weeks ago I decided to form a club. I got two other girls my age (12 years old) to join. They elected me president. The purpose of the club is to be friends and do interesting things.

No matter what I want to do they are against it. We take a vote and I lose. If I want to go bowling, they vote for a movie. When I want to go skating they vote to go dime store shopping.

I'm afraid I'm going to lose my presidency if I can't think of a way to get some unity into the club in a hurry. How can I do it? — MADAME President.

Dear Madame: A president is not supposed to inflict his will on the members. In a democracy the majority rules — not the president.

Why not take in a few additional members. They might have some brand new ideas and the club would be more fun. (It could shift the balance of power, too.)

Broken Promises

Dear Ann: Recently I married after being a widow for 10 years. The man I married lost his mate five years ago.

It was agreed when we married that I was to quit my job and do whatever I chose with the small income from my husband's estate. It was further agreed that we'd live on his salary and what was his was mine, also.

Now that we're married he takes me to the market once a week, pushes the cart and I walk behind like a child. If I pick an item off the shelf he says: "Put it back. We don't need it."

He pays the rent and utilities. If I want a piece of clothing, he comes with me to pick it out and he pays for it.

My pocketbook is so empty I keep tissue paper in it so it won't look so flat. Why should I have to beg for money when I was once completely independent and could be that way again if I went back to work? What do you suggest?—J.W.

Dear J.W.: I suggest you sit down with your husband and review the original agreement that you "live on his salary and what's his is yours, also."

Every woman should have some money to spend as she wishes, as a matter of dignity. She's a partner in the marriage, even if shes not bringing home a pay check.

If he doesn't loosen up, tell him you're going back to work and he can pay a housekeeper to cook and clean and follow him around the market when he shops.

Jealousy Showing

Dear Ann: Is it smart to let a husband drive the day-lady (she's younger than I am), my cousin, my sisters and the next-door neighbor to the bus line without me?

Recently when he offered to drive my cousin I suggested he take the kids along for the ride. He blew up and said, "For Pete's sake Helen, cut it out. I don't need a chaperon."

What does this sound like to you? —WONDERING.

Dear Wondering: It sounds like your suspicions are showing. Since you object to his being alone with the cleaning lady, the cousin and the sisters, your jealousy covers a wide range.

If the kids had asked to go along and he said not, it would be different. But when YOU suggest they accompany him it indicates you feel he needs watching. He resents this and he has a right to.

Cut it out, Helen, or you may put ideas in his head.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Sanitary Ware Firm's Staffs Win Increase

The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters announced today it has signed a new two-year working agreement with the American Radiator & Standard Sanitary Corp., covering employes in the firm's plants at Tiffin, Kokomo, Ind., Torrance and San Pablo, Calif., Trenton, N. J., and New Orleans.

The agreement includes a "package" increase of about 10 cents hourly—a general pay boost of 6 cents for all employes and 3½ cents hourly to be applied for improvements in the pension plan, the IBOP said.

The contract will run to May 31, 1962. A clause permits either party to negotiate for a general wage adjustment after the first year.

Other changes include a more liberal vacation plan and a stipulation that piece work rates will be increased on a percentage basis equal to the raise in hourly day-work rates.

At the same time, the IBOP announced an agreement has been reached between Local Unions 45 and 49 in Trenton and the Crane Co., another sanitary ware producer, ending a strike over a new insurance plan.

Earlier, the strike of the 2 locals had been sanctioned by the IBOP Executive Board, clearing the way for the members to collect strike benefits of $25 weekly.

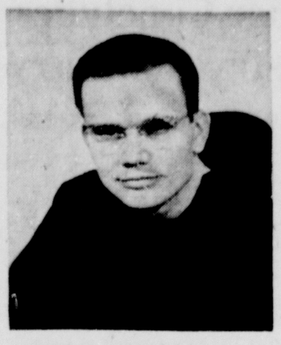
Life Term Looms Following Conviction

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A jury verdict of guilty with a recommendation of mercy means a mandatory life sentence for Charles R. Bean, 21, in the robbery slaying of Walter Tucholski, 53, last Feb. 16. The jury returned the verdict after three hours of deliberation Thursday.

Mrs. Ruth Tucholski, Bean's grandmother with whom the murder victim lived, came here from her daughter's home in Bridgeport, Conn. to ask that the youth's life be spared. Unemotional throughout other parts of the three-day trial, Bean wept at her testimony.

Claimed At 94

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Morris N. Halle, 94, widow of the founder of a wholesale drygoods business here, died Thursday. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Eunice Rosenthal of Columbus and Mrs. Miriam Livingston of Canton, and two sons, Milton and Jay, both of Cleveland. She was the oldest living member of Fairmount Temple.



PRISON CHAPLAIN. Fr. Leonard Felkey, Catholic chaplain of Indiana State Prison at Michigan City, will be guest speaker for the 60th anniversary celebration of Carroll Council 509 of East Liverpool and Wellsville Council 507 of the Knights of Columbus Sunday at 6:30 p. m. at the Travelers Hotel. Chairmen said about 150 are expected to attend the dinner. Fr. Felkey is a former resident of Midland.

DeMolay Chapter Holds Initiation Of 5 Members

Five were initiated as new members at a meeting of Harding Chapter, Order of DeMolay, Thursday night in the Masonic Temple. About 40 members and 8 advisors were present.

Gary Mackey, master councilor, conducted business and plans were made for about 10 to attend a conclave at Toledo Aug. 1-7.

Roger Hicks, scribe pro tem, read the minutes and conducted roll call of officers. He also read a petition for a new member. Roy Grimes gave the almoner's report. Plans were discussed for holding a square dance in the near future.

Members were asked to contact William Burlingame for information on proposed rifle and drill teams. The interpolation prayer was offered by David Conley, chaplain.

Lunch was served afterwards by the DeMolay Mothers' Circle. Gregory Ganas was a guest. The next meeting is July 7 in the temple.

Gas Station Windows Broken In Vandalism

LISBON — Police are investigating vandalism at the Hanna East End Service Station in which six windows were broken early today.

Patrolman John Varner cruised by the station at 3 a. m. and found nothing amiss but when Floyd Hanna, manager, reported at 6:30 he discovered a 6-x-7-foot window had been broken, along with a big door glass and four side windows.

Varner and Deputy Sheriff Herman Wellmen found no objects inside the station and concluded the vandal had used a club or hammer. The Coen Oil Co. of Canton sent in a repair crew this morning. Hanna's is an outlet for Coen.

Firemen At Glenmoor Launch Carnival Plans

Plans for the proposed carnival were discussed when the Glenmoor volunteer fire department met Thursday night at the fire station with 12 attending. Dates for the event will be set later.

Tony Bisco, chairman, said a ticket sale contest will be held for boys and girls from 12 to 18. Prizes will be awarded. Youngsters may phone Bisco at FU. 5-2736, for information.

The department's two trucks were taken on a trial run.

Library Encyclopedia Sports Bigger, More Comprehensive

Bigger and more comprehensive than ever is Frank G. Menke's "Sports Encyclopedia" now available at the Carnegie Public Library.

Miss Frances Jones, librarian, said it boasts an up-to-date tabulation of past and current records of more than 70 sports.

Harold Seymour explores the background of America's current summer mania in "Baseball, the Early Years." Tom Meany tries to answer the question of "What make a baseball team great?" He uses the medium of "The Yankee Story," telling how a team won 24 pennants and 18 World Series in 40 years.

Bob Considine and Bill Slocum have recorded the funny and the tragic moments in a fighter's life in a volume called "Dempsey."

Two areas presently coming in for their share of the news are well interpreted with books from this week's new book shelf. Melvin M. Belli looks at "Law and Life In Japan." There are no jury trials in this Oriental country even today so that it will be interesting to note the final handling of the current riots.

Stirring up political speculation is "Nelson Rockefeller" and this latest biography is by Joe Alex Morris, who has been preparing the portrait for the past 10 years. Morris is a reporter who has been on the staff of the United Press, the Herald Tribune and Colliers. The machinery of American political conventions is dissected in "Hats In the Ring" by Malcolm Moos and Stephen Hess. These two college professors from Johns Hopkins University take the reader backstage into the densest cigar smoke of the caucus room.

Two popular ladies of the entertainment world have packaged some social advice in book form. Arlene Francis writes about the magic of charm in "That Certain Something." Patti Page has a personal chat with all teen - agers about their problems in "Once Upon a Dream." She attributes much of her successful independence to the fact that she was one of 11 children which made her realize that she would have to provide for herself if she were to get ahead in the world.

Two great names in the entertainment world have been immortalized in biographies. Perle Mesta, the country's most famous official hostess, dictated her own story to Robert Chan and called it simply, "Perle." Charles Chaplin Jr. brings to life one of the world's greatest entertainers in "My Father, Charlie Chaplin." Charles and his brother, Syd, were full of practical jokes.

A frequent request at the library is supplying the information on the value of old books. Van Allen Bradley, literary editor of the Chicago Daily News, is an authority in the field of rare books. "Gold In Your Attic" gives the dollar value of American collector's items. According to Bradley, "Little Women" and the English edition of "Moby Dick" command the highest prices among first editions of fiction titles.

Wife Killed, Husband Injured In Collision

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Clara Christen, 35, of near Painesville, was killed and her husband injured critically in a two - car crash near here Thursday night. Their five children escaped with cuts and bruises.

The driver of the second car, Mrs. Helen Jones, 26, of Perry, and her daughters, Teri, 8, and Shirley, 4, were reported in fair condition after the cars met head-on Ohio 84, two miles east of Painesville.

Driver Convicted

CINCINNATI (AP) — Courtney Smith, 44, of Middletown, was convicted today of driving while under suspension, fined $25 and prohibited from operating an automobile for a year. Police records showed Smith was given a year's driving suspension last Jan. 5 when he was convicted of driving while drunk.

Tone-Ups Beautify Upper Arms

Summer is the season when upper arms are exposed to overcynosure. Why do the upper arms tend to get flabby and take on fat....and what can be done to re-shape middle-age upper arms?

By Ida Jean Kain

Admittedly, the triceps muscles which flank the backs of the arms are difficult to keep toned. The triceps are used very little in everyday routine activities. Fat gravitates to the least-used spots. Perhaps even worse is the plight of the reducer who takes of 20 pounds and fails to tone the triceps in the process.

We use our arms practically constantly and still the triceps muscles sag sadly as time goes by. So it is obvious a special exercise technique is required for toning these particular muscles. In response to our request for favorite arm-toning exercise, readers, bless them, have sent in the following:

Action: With a spring-like action, push fingertips together, then fling arms out to the sides, tening arm muscles as you fling. Repeat 12 to 25 times.

The beauty of that exercise is that the fingertip pressing also tones the bust-supporting muscles; the arm-flinging motion tones the triceps.

Extend arms out sideways, spread fingers wide apart, tensing the arm muscles. Now, slowly turn palms of hands upwards, hold, then reverse, twisting the arm until palms are turned clear around, palms up again.

Third, do shadow boxing, thrusting out vigorously with alternate arms, putting punch behind each thrust. Keep your shoulders squared and straight...and punch, punch.

A New Jersey reader sent in the following routine: Touch fingertips to shoulders and push elbows forward. Move elbows upwards and back and h-o-l-d. Move elbows down and back — h-o-l-d. Return to first position, repeat. Elbows should move in a triangle.

The second half of the routine is to hold arms down at sides, palms turned toward body. Action: Tense arm muscles, turning palms frontward — hold. Repeat ten times.

THE BALL-BOUNCING routine was sent in by a grandmother. The exercise is to hold the arms at shoulder level in front of the body and bounce a lively tennis ball...the ball will bounce about five feet in the air and the trick is to bounce and catch the ball 100 times a minute...and do this twice daily.

None of these exercises is hard to do. The ecret of success is to choose two or three exercises and take them daily.

Send a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for "Keep Upper Arms Young And Beautiful." Address your request to Ida Jean Kain, in care of this newspaper. Post card requests can not be answered.

Bringing Up A Family

Mispronounced Names Embarrassing

What's more precious to a person than his name? Many of you have attended commencement at your local high school. You have watched and listened with great interest as each graduate walked across the platform to receive his or her diploma. Usually it's the president of the Board of Education who calls the name of each graduate. Unless it's your son or daughter, you may not hear the name distinctly. And how do you fell if the name of your child is mispronounced? How must your child feel? How must the other youths and their parents feel when such happens to them?

By Garry Meyer.

SOMETIMES THE name is so incorrectly pronounced as to cause laughter. Even when the school principal or superintendent read the names, he may mispronounce some of them.

How absurd that this tragedy should occur. And it is a tragedy to the whole audience and entire community to have a chief school authority mumble or mispronounce the names of precious persons as though they were robots. Indeed, it suggests that the school is just a big machine.

For averting such a tragedy, let me suggest that the Board of Education president, prior to commencement, meet every graduate individually and personally, to make sure he can pronounce each student's name correctly.

How wonderful it would be if this official were to learn the names of all the graduates, so that he could say them at commencement without even reading the name from a list.

IF THE SCHOOL principal or superintendent is to give out the diplomas, he surely should know the name of each graduate.

You may have observed baptism or dedication of a number of babies at a church service, as occurs in some large Protestant churches.

Did the pastor know the name of the infant, or did he have to get it right then and there from the parent?

I have seen both happen, and Oh, the difference!

It looks as though pastors, as well as school officials, need to do some homework.

Students, pupils and babies are persons.

2,900 Attend Summer School At Youngstown

Youngstown University has opened the first of two five-week summer sessions with a total enrollment of nearly 2,900 in the College of Arts and Sciences, School of Business Administration, School of Education, William Rayen School of Engineering and Dana School of Music.

A breakdown of figures by schools, which is incomplete since a number of enrollments still are in progress, follows:

Education, 1,077; liberal arts, 844; business administration, 479, engineering, 410 and music 49. The Secretarial School has an enenrollment of approximately 175, not included in the enrollment proper. The final total enrollment will show an increase of approximately 100 students, university officials said.

ASC Requires Notice In Sale Of Quota Land

The Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office said it should be notified whenever farm land, which involves an acreage allotment or a conservation reserve contract, is bought or sold.

G. M. Swick, chairman, said there are certain regulations concerning the combination and division of farms which must be followed whenever land with acreage allotments changes hands. Notice to the county office will enable the necessary changes to be made on office records.

Swick said that in many cases it is even better if the office can be consulted before the farm real estate deal is closed. This may prevent later misunderstandings as to how allotments or conservation reserve contracts may be affected.

Picnic Slated July 25 By Women's CD Group

First plans for a picnic July 25 were discussed Wednesday night when the Women's Civil Defense Council met at the Council Chamber in City Hall.

No site has been selected for the picnic. Mrs. Doris Freeman will be in charge of reservations.

Gary Schreckengost, a member of the Key Club, screened a Navy Department film on the voyage of the atomic submarine Nautilus under the North Pole. A report was given on the reorganization meeting of the East Palestine CD Friday night, which a local delegation attended.

A report was given by Mrs. Vera Brereton on a demonstration staged by the 31st Mobile Support Group Sunday at Uhrichsville. Mrs. Luella Myers, president, conducted business.

Palestine Group Sets District Tour Sunday

A tour of the East Liverpool Historical Society Museum and the River Museum at Wellsville will be made by members and guests of the East Palestine and Unity Historical Society Sunday.

J. E. Buchanan, tour chairman, said anyone may attend the tour which will leave the East Palestine Methodist Church at 2 p. m.

Chester Bible School Program Set Tonight

The closing program of the 10-day vacation Bible School of the Chester Free Methodist Church will be presented tonight at 7:30.

Projects of students will be displayed and programs presented by the various departments. A picnic lunch was served this morning on the church lawn. Mrs. Arch McGaffick is director.

Admittedly, the triceps muscles which flank the backs of the arms are difficult to keep toned. The triceps are used very little in everyday routine activities. Fat gravitates to the least-used spots. Perhaps even worse is the plight of the reducer who takes of 20 pounds and fails to tone the triceps in the process.

We use our arms practically constantly and still the triceps muscles sag sadly as time goes by. So it is obvious a special exercise technique is required for toning these particular muscles. In response to our request for favorite arm-toning exercise, readers, bless them, have sent in the following:

Action: With a spring-like action, push fingertips together, then fling arms out to the sides, tening arm muscles as you fling. Repeat 12 to 25 times.

The beauty of that exercise is that the fingertip pressing also tones the bust-supporting muscles; the arm-flinging motion tones the triceps.

Extend arms out sideways, spread fingers wide apart, tensing the arm muscles. Now, slowly turn palms of hands upwards, hold, then reverse, twisting the arm until palms are turned clear around, palms up again.

Third, do shadow boxing, thrusting out vigorously with alternate arms, putting punch behind each thrust. Keep your shoulders squared and straight...and punch, punch.

A New Jersey reader sent in the following routine: Touch fingertips to shoulders and push elbows forward. Move elbows upwards and back and h-o-l-d. Move elbows down and back — h-o-l-d. Return to first position, repeat. Elbows should move in a triangle.

The second half of the routine is to hold arms down at sides, palms turned toward body. Action: Tense arm muscles, turning palms frontward — hold. Repeat ten times.

THE BALL-BOUNCING routine was sent in by a grandmother. The exercise is to hold the arms at shoulder level in front of the body and bounce a lively tennis ball...the ball will bounce about five feet in the air and the trick is to bounce and catch the ball 100 times a minute...and do this twice daily.

None of these exercises is hard to do. The ecret of success is to choose two or three exercises and take them daily.

Mispronounced Names Embarrassing

What's more precious to a person than his name? Many of you have attended commencement at your local high school. You have watched and listened with great interest as each graduate walked across the platform to receive his or her diploma. Usually it's the president of the Board of Education who calls the name of each graduate. Unless it's your son or daughter, you may not hear the name distinctly. And how do you fell if the name of your child is mispronounced? How must your child feel? How must the other youths and their parents feel when such happens to them?

By Garry Meyer.

SOMETIMES THE name is so incorrectly pronounced as to cause laughter. Even when the school principal or superintendent read the names, he may mispronounce some of them.

How absurd that this tragedy should occur. And it is a tragedy to the whole audience and entire community to have a chief school authority mumble or mispronounce the names of precious persons as though they were robots. Indeed, it suggests that the school is just a big machine.

For averting such a tragedy, let me suggest that the Board of Education president, prior to commencement, meet every graduate individually and personally, to make sure he can pronounce each student's name correctly.

How wonderful it would be if this official were to learn the names of all the graduates, so that he could say them at commencement without even reading the name from a list.

IF THE SCHOOL principal or superintendent is to give out the diplomas, he surely should know the name of each graduate.

You may have observed baptism or dedication of a number of babies at a church service, as occurs in some large Protestant churches.

Did the pastor know the name of the infant, or did he have to get it right then and there from the parent?

I have seen both happen, and Oh, the difference!

It looks as though pastors, as well as school officials, need to do some homework.

2,900 Attend Summer School At Youngstown

Youngstown University has opened the first of two five-week summer sessions with a total enrollment of nearly 2,900 in the College of Arts and Sciences, School of Business Administration, School of Education, William Rayen School of Engineering and Dana School of Music.

Education, 1,077; liberal arts, 844; business administration, 479, engineering, 410 and music 49. The Secretarial School has an enenrollment of approximately 175, not included in the enrollment proper. The final total enrollment will show an increase of approximately 100 students, university officials said.

ASC Requires Notice In Sale Of Quota Land

The Beaver County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office said it should be notified whenever farm land, which involves an acreage allotment or a conservation reserve contract, is bought or sold.

G. M. Swick, chairman, said there are certain regulations concerning the combination and division of farms which must be followed whenever land with acreage allotments changes hands. Notice to the county office will enable the necessary changes to be made on office records.

Swick said that in many cases it is even better if the office can be consulted before the farm real estate deal is closed. This may prevent later misunderstandings as to how allotments or conservation reserve contracts may be affected.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

TV Variety Director A Vanishing Breed

Not long ago, in Hollywood, I met Dan Petrie, who looks scarcely old enough to drive, much less to vote. He has directed innumerable television plays, an operation roughly comparable to flying a B52, and was on the verge of directing a movie, another fairly complex enterprise. Television has produced a good deal of these youngster, one of whom is Norman Jewison. Jewison looks young enough to draw a sharp glance from the bartender when he orders a drink—actually he is a very young 32—and much too young to have directed the "Fabulous Fifties," one of the best of the spectaculars; the Andy Williams Show, one of the best musical series ever done on TV, and the Harry Belafonte show.

JEWISON comes from Canada, a land where creative people are just beginning to boil over, and he represents a small and probably vanishing breed—the TV variety director.

"Most dramatic people—the directors, the writers and the producers—look down on variety from the artistic standpoint. You don't need any talent, they feel, to direct or produce a variety show.

"Well, take the Andy Williams Show. It was put on because CBS had enough courage to put it on. You couldn't sell it because—who was Andy Williams? He wasn't Perry Como.

"On a show like that you start with only Andy's name at the top. When I do a drama, it's all there. My function as a director is to do the drama as completely and as excitingly as I can, still leaving room for the writers and artists to function in a creative way. For a drama director, in the beginning at least, there is the word.

"BUT VARIETY is a blank page. And they say this isn't creative! It takes 10 times as much creative energy and thought to do variety—good variety.

"It's not as tight as a drama but, unless the variety show has a point of view or a raison d'etre, it cannot succeed. Only a show like the Ed Sullivan Show might—but there can't be too many of those. The talent there is in booking and, believe me, that requires a lot of talent.

"I did the Harry Belafonte Show and the point of view there, I think, was 'Songs of My People.' It was the first all-Negro show and it included the work songs, the children's songs, the hope songs and the persecution song of the Negro people.

"What better way is there to see or get the feel of the people than through their songs? That's why Burl Ives is so exciting. What he sings is true."

HOW, MR. JEWISON was asked, did this tie in with his next big show—"The Secret World of Eddie Hodges," which is coming up Tuesday?

Mr. Jewison lit up like the boy he is and he launched into its wonders:

"The Secret World of Eddie Hodgesis different from any variety special of the year. It has a character and a style all its own and the idea is boys' dreams. I believe there is a great barrier between adults and children. You can't quite get down to their level and they can't quite get up to yours.

"The show stars Eddie Hodges and Jackie Gleason. Jackie Gleason plays a kind of stage manager and director. He comes on first and says, 'That's a boy and I'm a grownup.'

"Boys have enemies—and we show the enemies, the older brother, the mother and father, the sisters, the teachers, the dentist—all enemies. When this kid builds a raft in his backyard—even when there isn't water within 50 miles of his yard—that raft is going to float."

MR. JEWISON outlined the whole show, his face alight with the joys of boyhood, line by line, gesture by gesture. The performances next Tuesday by Mr. Hodges and Mr. Gleason will have to be awfully good to surpass that of Mr. Jewison.

"The best television in the world," he said soberly, "is done in New York. Here we do not hesitate to have moments that are above everyone's head.

"It's true that there are only five or six a year that are really fine television shows—but these are the best in the world. The programming in Britain is better and more balanced but some of their things—their variety shows, for instance, are 30 years behind us.

"Yes, in some, I'm for the British system because it seem to me if you are independent you have strength.

"American television seems to be merely an extension of advertising. New York is the center of world culture today. This country can afford talent, not only its own, but talent from all over the world. Look at Hollywood, where so many of the best people come from abroad.

"The best thing about America is that it has no hesitancy about going outside itself to get the best. This is in the true melting pot tradition."

Goodballet Clarifies Statement On Gas Rate

A $3 rate proposed by the Ohio Valley Gas Co. in its original bid for an increase Jan. 4 was the first "step" in the company's schedule and not necessarily a proposed minimum charge, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet said today in clarification of a statement issued Thursday when he vetoed a rate ordinance enacted by Council June 6.

As the first step in its rate structure, the company proposed a charge of $3 for the initial 1,000 cubic feet, a figure later cut back to $2.65 in a negotiated settlement, the mayor said. He explained that the release he received from the company at the time it applied for a higher rate made no mention of a minimum charge.

Jaycees To Hold Picnic On June 25

The "stag" event will be held Saturday, June 25, at 8 p. m. at the home of Ed Adkins of St. Clair Ave., retiring president.

The outgoing executive officers of the Board of Directors will be in charge. The new officers and board will assume their duties July 1.

The committee met Thursday night at the Chamber of Commerce office to outline plans for the event. Members will be contacted by phone for reservations.

Adkins is serving as chairman. Various assignments were made.

Horseshoes and other games will be played. Refreshments will be served.

Adkins said the picnic is being held as an expression of thanks to the membership from the officers for their work during the past year.

West Virginia Sets Up Final Tax Figures

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Board of Public Works, after two days work, has finished fixing final 1960 assessments for utility tax purposes. Its unofficial total reached $815,668,800 for Classes III and IV properties.

The State Tax Department had sent tentative assessments for those property categories to the works board which figured up to $825,189,300.

The Norfolk and Western Railway Co., larger now than it had been because of a merger with the Virginian, might become this year's largest property taxpayer in the state.

The Board of Public Works fixed the final 1960 assessment for N & W at $117,500,000, all on Classes III and IV property on which rates are highest.

Last year's leading taxpayer was Appalachian Power Co., which had a bill of $3,065,632.32. A total assessment for the power firm was $113,564,700, including $4,564,700 in Class I and $109,000,000 in Classes III and IV.

The board boosted Appalachian's Classes III and IV figure to 110 million dollars for 1960, thus making a total assessment of $114,780,700, with another $4,780,700 in Class I.

The assessment figures, however, are not necessarily comparable with taxes to be paid this year. The N & W paid a property levy of $2,015,449.92 in the state last year, the Virginian $1,041,349.39.

The board had ignored a proposed five - million - dollar increase in the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway assessment, and yesterday cut in half a suggested four-million-dollar increase — to 23 million — for Atlantic Seaboard Corp. a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas System.

The board accepted tentatively, pending more discussion with company officials, a $3,850,000 assessment for the Pennsylvania Railroad. That figure was $1,300,000 less than the final 1959 assessment.

Dog Warden To Offer Animals For Adoption

Dog Warden Robert J. Croyle said he will be at the pound at the sewage plant in West End tonight and Saturday after 6 p. m. to talk with families interested in adopting any of the 7 animals which he impounded recently.

Croyle said the strays include several pups. Most of the fully-grown dogs are of comparatively small breeds suitable for family pets, he added. Croyle said he also is seeking the owner of a Dalmtian which he picked up Thursday afternoon in W. Center Ln. The dog is wearing a choker collar, but has no license tag or other identification, he said.

Croyle said persons with dog problems may phone him at his home FU. 5-3823.

Out Of The Air

By JOHN CROSBY

TV Variety Director A Vanishing Breed

Not long ago, in Hollywood, I met Dan Petrie, who looks scarcely old enough to drive, much less to vote. He has directed innumerable television plays, an operation roughly comparable to flying a B52, and was on the verge of directing a movie, another fairly complex enterprise. Television has produced a good deal of these youngster, one of whom is Norman Jewison. Jewison looks young enough to draw a sharp glance from the bartender when he orders a drink—actually he is a very young 32—and much too young to have directed the "Fabulous Fifties," one of the best of the spectaculars; the Andy Williams Show, one of the best musical series ever done on TV, and the Harry Belafonte show.

JEWISON comes from Canada, a land where creative people are just beginning to boil over, and he represents a small and probably vanishing breed—the TV variety director.

"Most dramatic people—the directors, the writers and the producers—look down on variety from the artistic standpoint. You don't need any talent, they feel, to direct or produce a variety show.

"Well, take the Andy Williams Show. It was put on because CBS had enough courage to put it on. You couldn't sell it because—who was Andy Williams? He wasn't Perry Como.

"On a show like that you start with only Andy's name at the top. When I do a drama, it's all there. My function as a director is to do the drama as completely and as excitingly as I can, still leaving room for the writers and artists to function in a creative way. For a drama director, in the beginning at least, there is the word.

"BUT VARIETY is a blank page. And they say this isn't creative! It takes 10 times as much creative energy and thought to do variety—good variety.

"It's not as tight as a drama but, unless the variety show has a point of view or a raison d'etre, it cannot succeed. Only a show like the Ed Sullivan Show might—but there can't be too many of those. The talent there is in booking and, believe me, that requires a lot of talent.

"I did the Harry Belafonte Show and the point of view there, I think, was 'Songs of My People.' It was the first all-Negro show and it included the work songs, the children's songs, the hope songs and the persecution song of the Negro people.

"What better way is there to see or get the feel of the people than through their songs? That's why Burl Ives is so exciting. What he sings is true."

HOW, MR. JEWISON was asked, did this tie in with his next big show—"The Secret World of Eddie Hodges," which is coming up Tuesday?

Mr. Jewison lit up like the boy he is and he launched into its wonders:

"The Secret World of Eddie Hodgesis different from any variety special of the year. It has a character and a style all its own and the idea is boys' dreams. I believe there is a great barrier between adults and children. You can't quite get down to their level and they can't quite get up to yours.

"The show stars Eddie Hodges and Jackie Gleason. Jackie Gleason plays a kind of stage manager and director. He comes on first and says, 'That's a boy and I'm a grownup.'

"Boys have enemies—and we show the enemies, the older brother, the mother and father, the sisters, the teachers, the dentist—all enemies. When this kid builds a raft in his backyard—even when there isn't water within 50 miles of his yard—that raft is going to float."

MR. JEWISON outlined the whole show, his face alight with the joys of boyhood, line by line, gesture by gesture. The performances next Tuesday by Mr. Hodges and Mr. Gleason will have to be awfully good to surpass that of Mr. Jewison.

"The best television in the world," he said soberly, "is done in New York. Here we do not hesitate to have moments that are above everyone's head.

"It's true that there are only five or six a year that are really fine television shows—but these are the best in the world. The programming in Britain is better and more balanced but some of their things—their variety shows, for instance, are 30 years behind us.

"Yes, in some, I'm for the British system because it seem to me if you are independent you have strength.

"American television seems to be merely an extension of advertising. New York is the center of world culture today. This country can afford talent, not only its own, but talent from all over the world. Look at Hollywood, where so many of the best people come from abroad.

"The best thing about America is that it has no hesitancy about going outside itself to get the best. This is in the true melting pot tradition."

Goodballet Clarifies Statement On Gas Rate

A $3 rate proposed by the Ohio Valley Gas Co. in its original bid for an increase Jan. 4 was the first "step" in the company's schedule and not necessarily a proposed minimum charge, Mayor Bert H. Goodballet said today in clarification of a statement issued Thursday when he vetoed a rate ordinance enacted by Council June 6.

As the first step in its rate structure, the company proposed a charge of $3 for the initial 1,000 cubic feet, a figure later cut back to $2.65 in a negotiated settlement, the mayor said. He explained that the release he received from the company at the time it applied for a higher rate made no mention of a minimum charge.

Jaycees To Hold Picnic On June 25

The "stag" event will be held Saturday, June 25, at 8 p. m. at the home of Ed Adkins of St. Clair Ave., retiring president.

The outgoing executive officers of the Board of Directors will be in charge. The new officers and board will assume their duties July 1.

The committee met Thursday night at the Chamber of Commerce office to outline plans for the event. Members will be contacted by phone for reservations.

Adkins is serving as chairman. Various assignments were made.

Horseshoes and other games will be played. Refreshments will be served.

Adkins said the picnic is being held as an expression of thanks to the membership from the officers for their work during the past year.

West Virginia Sets Up Final Tax Figures

CHARLESTON (AP) — The Board of Public Works, after two days work, has finished fixing final 1960 assessments for utility tax purposes. Its unofficial total reached $815,668,800 for Classes III and IV properties.

The State Tax Department had sent tentative assessments for those property categories to the works board which figured up to $825,189,300.

The Norfolk and Western Railway Co., larger now than it had been because of a merger with the Virginian, might become this year's largest property taxpayer in the state.

The Board of Public Works fixed the final 1960 assessment for N & W at $117,500,000, all on Classes III and IV property on which rates are highest.

Last year's leading taxpayer was Appalachian Power Co., which had a bill of $3,065,632.32. A total assessment for the power firm was $113,564,700, including $4,564,700 in Class I and $109,000,000 in Classes III and IV.

The board boosted Appalachian's Classes III and IV figure to 110 million dollars for 1960, thus making a total assessment of $114,780,700, with another $4,780,700 in Class I.

The assessment figures, however, are not necessarily comparable with taxes to be paid this year. The N & W paid a property levy of $2,015,449.92 in the state last year, the Virginian $1,041,349.39.

The board had ignored a proposed five - million - dollar increase in the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway assessment, and yesterday cut in half a suggested four-million-dollar increase — to 23 million — for Atlantic Seaboard Corp. a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas System.

The board accepted tentatively, pending more discussion with company officials, a $3,850,000 assessment for the Pennsylvania Railroad. That figure was $1,300,000 less than the final 1959 assessment.

Dog Warden To Offer Animals For Adoption

Croyle said the strays include several pups. Most of the fully-grown dogs are of comparatively small breeds suitable for family pets, he added. Croyle said he also is seeking the owner of a Dalmtian which he picked up Thursday afternoon in W. Center Ln. The dog is wearing a choker collar, but has no license tag or other identification, he said.

Croyle said persons with dog problems may phone him at his home FU. 5-3823.

Secretary Charged With Murder

One Killed, 4 Injured At School Board Meeting

BROWNSBORO, Tex. (AP) — A smoldering feud that has long split this east Texas town flared into a free-for-all fight Thursday night at a school board meeting. One man was shot to death, four were injured, and the school board secretary was charged with murder.

Killed was Thurman Jackson, 42, lumber company operator, who was felled by two bullets minutes after he demanded the board itemize some of the bills it had presented.

School Board President Ivan H. Long suffered a cut over his eye when he was struck several times in the face. Board member J. P. Parker said he blacked out after being struck in the face and hit over the head. Bill Melton was shot in the arm. George Rash suffered several knife wounds.

Dr. Charles Rahm, school board secretary and a former Brownsboro mayor, was charged with murder in Jackson's death. Henderson County Dist. Atty. Jack Hardee said Dr. Rahm was being held in an undisclosed jail.

Four Texas Rangers and more than a half dozen highway patrol cars poured into Brownsboro as a safeguard against further violence and to assist in the all-night investigation conducted at the courthouse in nearby Athens, Henderson County seat.

More than 50 witnesses to the fight were questioned. Hardee said Bill Barton had been charged with affray in the attack on Long and that he expected to file charges against others.

"I have a lot of witnesses—40 or 50 — to talk to," Hardee said shortly before dawn.

More than 250 persons were present for the board's regular monthly meeting and about 30 took part in the fight.

Tension has been high since the board of the consolidated school district which covers the east part of Henderson County last April fired Homer Bass, superintendent for 23 years. The district had long been split into pro-Bass and anti-Bass factions.

'Maximum' Attendance Seen For Scout Camp At Leesville

The camping season will open June 26 and continue with weekly periods through Aug. 6. Peak attendance is seen for each period.

Bennett D. Taylor Jr., scout executive, will serve as director. Assisting will be Dean Senanefes of Lisbon, program director; Robert Arnold, aquatics director, Jack Vincent, campcraft director, and Edward Carnes, camp quartermaster, all of East Liverpool.

Food service will again be handled by Mrs. Sylvia Ackeret of Holmesville. Assisting her will be Wayne Boley of East Liverpool and David Mayer of Hanoverton.

Preparation for the summer camp began June 4 when Senanefes and Jack Vincent attended the national camping school at "Camp Birch," the Springfield Council scout camp. Arnold attended the national aquatics school there. This group will be at the camp next week and will assist Taylor in training other staff members.

An inovation in the camp staff is being initiated. Each unit attending camp will send two of its junior leaders the week prior to their group's attendance. They will serve as assistants on the staff for that week and for the week their units are in camp, and will serve as instructors in the various scoutcraft areas.

Pre-camp preparations will be held today, Saturday and Sunday with the annual "bean feed." Scouters of the council and members of the Order of the Arrow will get the camp in readiness for full operation for the following weekend.

Next week will be devoted to staff training so that the campers will start off with a full schedule of activities, Taylor said.

Aged Patients Moved To Private Rest Homes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Aged patients are being moved from Columbus State Hospital to private rest homes as fast as or even faster than in other state institutions of comparable size, the director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction noted Thursday. Dr. Robert A. Haines said Columbus had removed 59 aged patients over the last six weeks, compared with 56 at Toledo and 53 at Longview.

"Certainly these figures give no basis for criticism of Columbus State Hospital for their efforts to comply with the governor's orders to move out aged patients as quickly as possible," he said.

Dark plaids and prints that go to town or travel, so neatly styled by Jonathan Logan, the juniors favorite designer. Decorate with jewels and they're ready for night life. Heap them with beads or add another petticoat and they're ready for partying. The fabric looks like old fashioned calico print—etched with a black velvet band around the waist. The skirt has yards and yards of material with deep flounce at the bottom, cool looking bateau neckline and three quarter sleeves. It looks like is was copied from great grandmothers picture album. You'll love the picture you make and the price is only 17.95 in sizes 7-15.

Olsens buyer didn't stop with just one junior style. They have dozens more in the new summer darks or transeason dresses. One of the most popular is the Gay Gibson dress. There are several styles in this well-known line . . . that is exclusive in our town with Olsens. There's a honey of a sleek little sheath in dacron and polyester—the fabric that takes to suds but shuns the iron. It's really a double duty dress. It has a clever little crop top jacket that barely reaches the waist line — buttons down the back—in a muted plaid that will go everywhere regardless of weather and only 17.95 in sizes 7-15. These are the dresses you will depend on for summer in the city—vacations and travel into fall. These dresses wouldn't dream of lanquishing in a closet! They keep busy all summer because they're so pretty, so versatile, and so becoming to your wonderful junior figure.

No doubt you too are vacation minded . . . Most of us can hardly wait to take off from our busy daily schedule. No matter whether you are going to the sea shore, to the city, or high up in the mountains, you will need loads of summer fun fashions. What to wear when the waters fine and the sun is wonderful? Olsens has a wonderful selection of swim suits. You will find dozens and dozens of new styles. There's one suit that is everyone's favorite. Fashioned of helenca yarn (one of the new wonder fabrics), it is styled with the popular low cut back—set off with a pearlized buckle at the very base of the V. Tightly fitted legs for better swimming. Then there's two piece styles galore, in solids or prints—all very gay and colorful, too. Of course, they all have built in bras of pellon. Truly, you'll have lots of fun just going thru all these styles. And best of all they are priced at the low, low price of 8.79 and 10.79 in sizes 32-38. About that boulder in your eye

"Got something in my eye," the customer said. "Feels like a boulder. How about taking it out?" He was hurting and wanted help then and there. The pharmacist remembered hearing about another man whose "something" turned out to be a steel splinter embedded in his eyeball. He advised him to see his physician. Prompt surgery saved his sight. So, we're careful. And if we seem overly cautious sometimes, remember—we're pharmacists, not physicians. We work with doctors, dispensing the drugs and medications they prescribe. But we don't practice medicine.

Aged Patients Moved To Private Rest Homes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Aged patients are being moved from Columbus State Hospital to private rest homes as fast as or even faster than in other state institutions of comparable size, the director of the Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction noted Thursday. Dr. Robert A. Haines said Columbus had removed 59 aged patients over the last six weeks, compared with 56 at Toledo and 53 at Longview.

"Certainly these figures give no basis for criticism of Columbus State Hospital for their efforts to comply with the governor's orders to move out aged patients as quickly as possible," he said.

About that boulder in your eye

"Got something in my eye," the customer said. "Feels like a boulder. How about taking it out?" He was hurting and wanted help then and there. The pharmacist remembered hearing about another man whose "something" turned out to be a steel splinter embedded in his eyeball. He advised him to see his physician. Prompt surgery saved his sight. So, we're careful. And if we seem overly cautious sometimes, remember—we're pharmacists, not physicians. We work with doctors, dispensing the drugs and medications they prescribe. But we don't practice medicine.

Baseball Cramped For Space . . .

It didn't take anyone to come along and hit us over the head with a ball bat, since, like many others in East Liverpool, we too realize the city's dwindling baseball facilities.

The flame was rekindled this week when the Little League learned that Myler Park, the first Little League field in the city, would not be available after this season.

The Little League has used Myler Park since 1951 when the program was first introduced to the city.

This leaves the Little League with a field at Thompson Park and one in LaCroft which is just nearing completion.

There is only one park in town for adult baseball and that is Patterson Field, probably the worst place to play a game that we know of.

The field is far from adequate, but it has been used by City League and county teams for years. Left field is the only clear area. In centerfield is a permanent fence which has driven many centerfielders crazy, along with four lightpoles with wires stretching through the middle of right and center fields.

Two other fields which were used for baseball are no longer available. A track-rabbit course for the small racing cars has been built in Columbian Park. This field was used by the Little League, American Legion Post 374 and the County League.

Another East End field, upper Columbian Park or Green's Field, as it used to be known, was chopped off the list when homes were built there several years ago.

The only league in town that can stand pat is the Pony Loop which is pretty well set with Dopler Field located behind East Junior High School. This field is quite adequate for the Pony League.

New Field Would Fill Bill . . .

Two years ago in this column we said the city is in need of a municipal field and the site we suggested was Thompson Park.

The flat area in Thompson Park just beyond the main gate would be an ideal spot for a baseball stadium. Another place is the area directly below the Municipal swimming pool which at one time was a baseball diamond, but the field needs a new face.

Our visions of a field in Thompson Park may run off the track but here is what it could be if the city officials along with the baseball leagues in town could pull together in one combined effort.

The field, with the use of a portable fence, could house the Little League, Pony League, (especially for tournament games), high school baseball, legion baseball and the adult City League.

Sunday baseball could also be played in Thompson Park. It is banned at Patterson Field.

The park should have permanent stands along with a grass infield, dugouts and scoreboard.

The Thompson Park Commission already has started a trend for better recreation in the city. The tennis courts are reaching completion and the outdoor basketball court constructed by the Little Potters League will be ready by next Wednesday.

We hope that in the near future the city, along with the baseball men of the community, can see their way clear for a municipal baseball field.

Too Many All-Star Games? . . .

Paul Landis, assistant commissioner of the scholastic athletic association, said the governing group is perturbed by all - senior games being staged on a sectional basis.

This also includes the Ohio-Western Pennsylvania All-Star game which is to be held in East Liverpool on July 30. The East Palestine Jaycees are sponsoring this game.

The board, which concluded a three-day session in Columbus Wednesday, has approved the North-South football and basketball games, and the East-West baseball series, but no others. The coaches of the three sports were asked to canvass their groups to ascertain how many all-star tilts are being staged, and to report to the board.

Commissioner W. J. McConnell said recently "the entire all - star game setup is being jeopardized because too many are being held. Unless they are curtailed, the board may ban all of them."

The coach-quarterback conference plan was urged by the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association, and the board decided to go along on an experimental basis.

If the idea works out as the coaches plan it may be made statewide next year.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

JIM HARRIS, Potter basketball coach, will be the supervisor for the outdoor basketball court in Thompson Park during the summer.

BOB PATTON of Martins Ferry, voted the most valuable player in the Junior Basketball Tournament held here in April, has accepted a scholarship at New York University.

MEL SMITH, chairman of the All-Star football game to be held in East Liverpool July 30, has 26 queens lined up from each city being represented for a beauty pageant and queen contest the night of the game.

435-Foot Belt Puts Orioles In First Place

CLEVELAND (AP) — Swatted out of first place by Ron Hansen's 435-foot home run, the Cleveland Indians may alter their lineup some for a four-game series with last-place Boston opening tonight.

Rookie shortstop Hansen clubbed an 11th inning pitch by Barry Latman to break a tie and win a 3-2 victory for the Baltimore Orioles Thursday, the Birds' third victory in the four-game set-to.

The loss ended the Indians' eight-game stay in first place. As a result of the New York Yankees' loss in Kanssas City Thursday night, Cleveland now is tied for second with the Yanks.

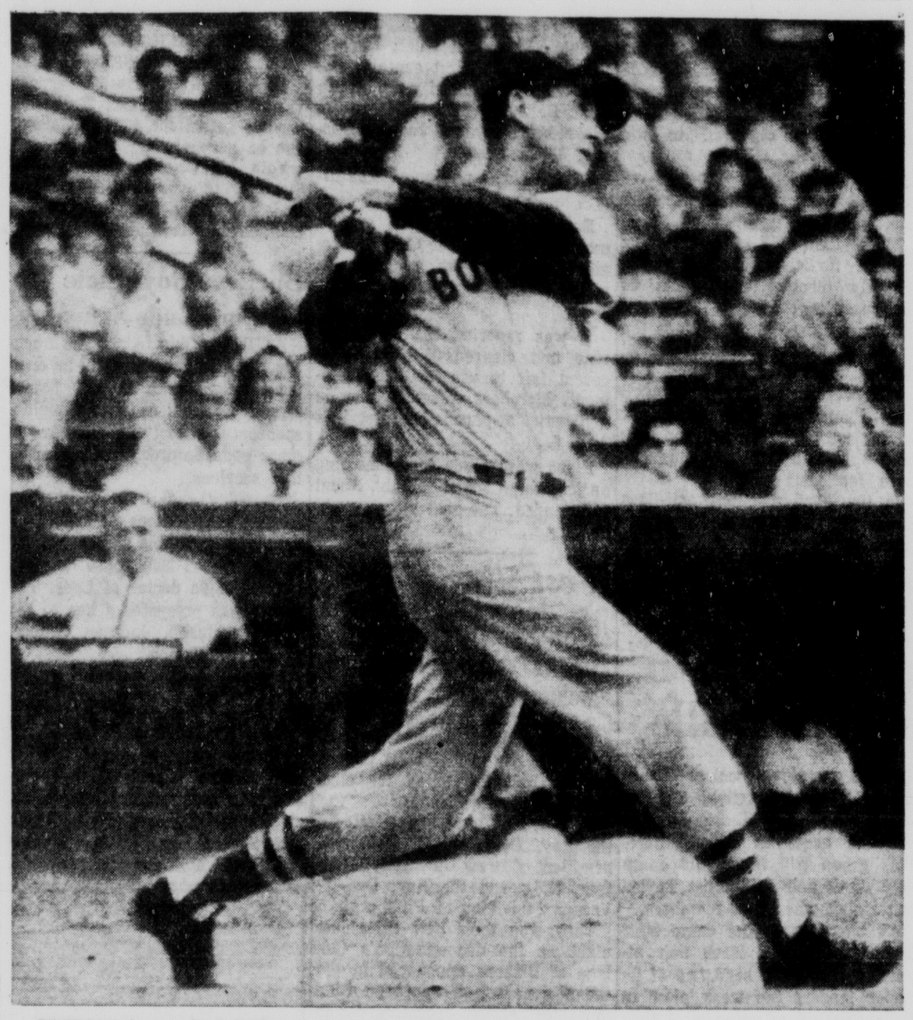
Manager Joe Gordon indicated he would bench John Temple and play Harvey Kuenn at third tonight. Marty Keough, newly acquired from Boston, would go to right field. Temple has a foot injury, and Gordon explained:

"He's too good a ball player to embarrass by asking him to play on one leg. John isn't complaining. He'd stay in there, but that foot needs more time to heal."

Although he was an outfielder through the last two seasons with the Detroit Tigers, Kuenn came up with Detroit as a shortstop and was used in that position by the Tigers for several years.

Baltimore's Jack Fisher allowed Cleveland only seven hits over 11 innings as he sent the Tribe to its fifth loss in six games. Three of those hits came in the last half of the ninth inning when the Indians tied the score. John Romano homered, and another run came in on Tito Francona's double and Chuck Tanner's pinch single.

Ted Bowsfield, obtained with Keough Monday in the Boston trade, made his first start for Cleveland. He yielded two runs on eight hits in seven innings, walking two and fanning three. Singles by Gus Triandos and Brooks Robinson after Hansen's walk netted the birds a run in the fourth. They added another in the seventh on Robinson's single and Walt Dropo's double.



BOSTON slugger Ted Williams sends his 499th home run on its way during the ninth inning of the Detroit-Boston game Thursday at Detroit. Williams' homer tied the score but the Tigers won in the 10th, 6-5. (UPI Telephoto)

Jimmy Brown Signs 2-Year Football Pact

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns have signed their sensational fullback, Jim Brown, to a two-year contract, putting an end—for the time being, at least—to talk that Brown might quit football.

Brown had said earlier this year he had an offer to go into another sport and indicated he would accept the offer unless he got the same sort of raise he received after the 1958 season, when he set the National Football League record for rushing—1,527 yards.

Apparently Brown, who led the league in rushing last season for the third straight year, got the raise. Although terms of the contract were not made public, Coach Paul Brown said today Jimmy was "being paid in line with being the best running back in the history of the game."

The coach said the option clause in the contract in effect binds the big fullback to the Browns for the next three season.

Jim never identified the other sport in which he was interested, but it was reported the all-around athlete had been considering a career in boxing. The 6-foot-2, 228-pound Brown starred in basketball, lacrosse and track at Syracuse University as well as in football. He reportedly was offered a boxing contract when he left Syracuse but passed it up for football.

Coach Brown said he doubted that Jim "ever seriously considered a career in boxing or another sport."

Five Teenagers Sign Bonus Offers

By The Associated Press

Within the past 48 hours, Cleveland, the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis—all avowed anti-big bonus clubs — and San Francisco have met price tags totaling an estimated $420,000 to sign five teenagers in major league baseball's annual rush on kid talent.

The Giants gave up about $170,000 for two of the kids Thursday. They signed Chuck (Cap) Peterson, 17-year-old shortstop from Tacoma, Wash., for an estimated $90,000 a few hours after shelling out an estimated $80,000 for Randy Hundley, 18, Martinsville, Va., catcher.

The Indians got into the sweepstakes Thursday by bundling up $75,000 to snare Sam McDowell, 17-year-old left-hander who has pitched 40 no-htters, in a bidding brawl with 13 other clubs.

Wednesday, the Cubs paid an estimated $125,000 for 17-year-old Danny Murphy, right-hander pitcher from Danvers, Mass. The Cardinals paid an estimated $50,000 the same day to Jerry Marx, 18, shortstop from Cincinnati.

The Giants also recently paid an estimated $85,000 for Dick Dietz, 18, a catcher—making a total of $165,000 shelled out by the National League club for kid catchers in less than two weeks.

Two High Scoring Games Highlight Minor Loop Play

A pair of high-scoring contests topped action in the Minor League Thursday when Knowles handed Potters Bank and Trust a 20-17 setback and Bergeners nipped Veteran's plate Glass, 12-11.

Knowles scored in every inning but the first and turned in an eight-run third to defeat Potters. McKenzie was the winning pitcher while Whinegartner, Orr, Pierce and Bosworth had two hits each for the winners.

Bergener's pushed across four runs in the final inning to nip Veteran's in a thriller. The winners collected 11 hits, including three by Wood. Steele was the winning hurler. Jones connected for a double and single for two of the loser's four safeties.

Pirates Build Up Four-Game Lead; Face Los Angeles

By The Associated Press

The Los Angeles Dodgers, wobbly world champions thus far, find out whether they're really on the way back tonight when they open a three-game series with Pittsburgh's National League-leading Pirates.

The Dodgers climbed into fifth place with a 10-6 decision over last-place Philadelphia Thursday night. The champs, nine games out of first place, have won four of their last five games—all against Cincinnati and the Phils.

Pittsburgh completed a three-game sweep at San Francisco with a 10-7 victory. The Pirates now have a four-game lead over the second-place Giants who have lost four in a row. Milwaukee, five games back in third, defeated the Chicago Cubs 10-7. Fourth-place St. Louis made it four straight, spilling Cincinnati to sixth with a 6-5 decision.

The Pirates, picking right-hander Vern Law (9-2) to face the Dodgers' Stan Williams (5-0) tonight, took two of three in their last trip to Los Angeles. But the Dodgers sent them skidding out of first place with a three-game sweep at Pittsburgh three weeks ago.

In the American League, Baltimore bounced back on top by defeating Cleveland 3-2 in 11 innings. That gave the Orioles a 1½-game lead over the Indians and New York, tied for second. Kansas City ended the Yankees' winning streak at seven, 9-1, with their first victory over southpaw Whitey Ford in seven years. The Chicago White Sox beat Washington 10-4. Detroit defeated Boston 6-5 in 10 innings.

Wally Moon and Frank Howard each hit three-run homers for the Dodgers, who tagged loser John Buzhard (2-5) and three relievers for 15 hits. Moon's shot climaxed a four-run third and he then brought in the clincher with a sacrifice fly in the fifth for a total of 22 RBI in a 12-game hitting streak.

Southpaw Johnny Podres (6-5) won for the fourth time in his last five decisions. He gave up 10 of the Phils' 14 hits and needed relief help in a four-run eighth.

Bob Skinner drove in five runs for Pittsburgh, bringing the Bucs from behind with a grand-slam homer in a six-run fifth inning as they beat Jack Sanford (6-3) for the first time in two years. Consecutive triples by Don Hoak and the decisive run in a three-run eighth against reliever Johnny Antonelli. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell (3-4) was the winner, but was chased in a five-run ninth capped by Willie Kirkland's three run homer off Roy Face.

Three runs in the eighth did it for the Braves with Hank Aaron's two-run triple the payoff shot against losing reliever Joe Schaffernoth (0-1). Reliever Ron Piche won his first in his third major league decision, although blowing a 6-5 lead when Don Zimmer greeted him with a solo home run in the seventh.

The Cards, seven games behind Pittsburgh, beat Bob Purkey (5-3) with a 6-1 lead in five innings. Lindy McDaniel had to save it after a two-run homer by Frank Robinson got the Res rolling for four runs against winner Ernie Broglio (4-2) in the eighth.

Post 374 Trips Foe, 8-1, Behind Six's Two-Hitter

Behind the two-hit pitching of Ed Six and the heavy bats of Bud Myers and Gary Berhar, Post 374 opened its league season by blasting Columbiana, 8-1, Thursday at Patterson Field.

It marked the first league start for Post 374 which was rained out of its opener Sunday.

Six struck out 10 and allowed Columbiana only two singles. He gave up four walks.

Myers, Post 374's leftfielder, staked his team to a 4-0 lead in the third inning with a grand slam home run. Berhar increased the margin in the fifth inning by clubbing a triple with two teammates on base.

Six didn't give up a run until the seventh inning.

Post 374 plays an exhibition game against Post 44 of Canton Saturday at the 10th District convention at Cook's Park in Canton. The next league game is at Salem Wednesday while the locals meet Steubenville at Patterson Field on Thursday.

The Little League has used Myler Park since 1951 when the program was first introduced to the city.

This leaves the Little League with a field at Thompson Park and one in LaCroft which is just nearing completion.

In order to replace Myler, officials are thinking about another field in Thompson Park or one in Chester.

Taking stock of the baseball facilities in East Liverpool is a job that doesn't take long.

There is only one park in town for adult baseball and that is Patterson Field, probably the worst place to play a game that we know of.

The field is far from adequate, but it has been used by City League and county teams for years. Left field is the only clear area. In centerfield is a permanent fence which has driven many centerfielders crazy, along with four lightpoles with wires stretching through the middle of right and center fields.

The wires have accounted for many base hits which would normally be easy outs.

Two other fields which were used for baseball are no longer available. A track-rabbit course for the small racing cars has been built in Columbian Park. This field was used by the Little League, American Legion Post 374 and the County League.

Another East End field, upper Columbian Park or Green's Field, as it used to be known, was chopped off the list when homes were built there several years ago.

The only league in town that can stand pat is the Pony Loop which is pretty well set with Dopler Field located behind East Junior High School. This field is quite adequate for the Pony League.

New Field Would Fill Bill . . .

Two years ago in this column we said the city is in need of a municipal field and the site we suggested was Thompson Park.

The flat area in Thompson Park just beyond the main gate would be an ideal spot for a baseball stadium. Another place is the area directly below the Municipal swimming pool which at one time was a baseball diamond, but the field needs a new face.

Our visions of a field in Thompson Park may run off the track but here is what it could be if the city officials along with the baseball leagues in town could pull together in one combined effort.

The field, with the use of a portable fence, could house the Little League, Pony League, (especially for tournament games), high school baseball, legion baseball and the adult City League.

Sunday baseball could also be played in Thompson Park. It is banned at Patterson Field.

The park should have permanent stands along with a grass infield, dugouts and scoreboard.

The Thompson Park Commission already has started a trend for better recreation in the city. The tennis courts are reaching completion and the outdoor basketball court constructed by the Little Potters League will be ready by next Wednesday.

We hope that in the near future the city, along with the baseball men of the community, can see their way clear for a municipal baseball field.

Too Many All-Star Games? . . .

High school all-star games, except those sponsored by the various coaches' associations, are drawing frowns from the state board of control.

Paul Landis, assistant commissioner of the scholastic athletic association, said the governing group is perturbed by all - senior games being staged on a sectional basis.

This also includes the Ohio-Western Pennsylvania All-Star game which is to be held in East Liverpool on July 30. The East Palestine Jaycees are sponsoring this game.

The board, which concluded a three-day session in Columbus Wednesday, has approved the North-South football and basketball games, and the East-West baseball series, but no others. The coaches of the three sports were asked to canvass their groups to ascertain how many all-star tilts are being staged, and to report to the board.

Commissioner W. J. McConnell said recently "the entire all - star game setup is being jeopardized because too many are being held. Unless they are curtailed, the board may ban all of them."

In other actions the state board voted to allow football coaches in certain leagues to confer with their quarterbacks during a time out.

The coach-quarterback conference plan was urged by the Ohio High School Football Coaches Association, and the board decided to go along on an experimental basis.

If the idea works out as the coaches plan it may be made statewide next year.

JIM HARRIS, Potter basketball coach, will be the supervisor for the outdoor basketball court in Thompson Park during the summer.

Along with serving as supervisor, Jim is attending Kent State University for work on his master's degree.

He will receive $500 for the supervisor's job from the Little Potters League.

BOB PATTON of Martins Ferry, voted the most valuable player in the Junior Basketball Tournament held here in April, has accepted a scholarship at New York University.

MEL SMITH, chairman of the All-Star football game to be held in East Liverpool July 30, has 26 queens lined up from each city being represented for a beauty pageant and queen contest the night of the game.

435-Foot Belt Puts Orioles In First Place

CLEVELAND (AP) — Swatted out of first place by Ron Hansen's 435-foot home run, the Cleveland Indians may alter their lineup some for a four-game series with last-place Boston opening tonight.

Rookie shortstop Hansen clubbed an 11th inning pitch by Barry Latman to break a tie and win a 3-2 victory for the Baltimore Orioles Thursday, the Birds' third victory in the four-game set-to.

The loss ended the Indians' eight-game stay in first place. As a result of the New York Yankees' loss in Kanssas City Thursday night, Cleveland now is tied for second with the Yanks.

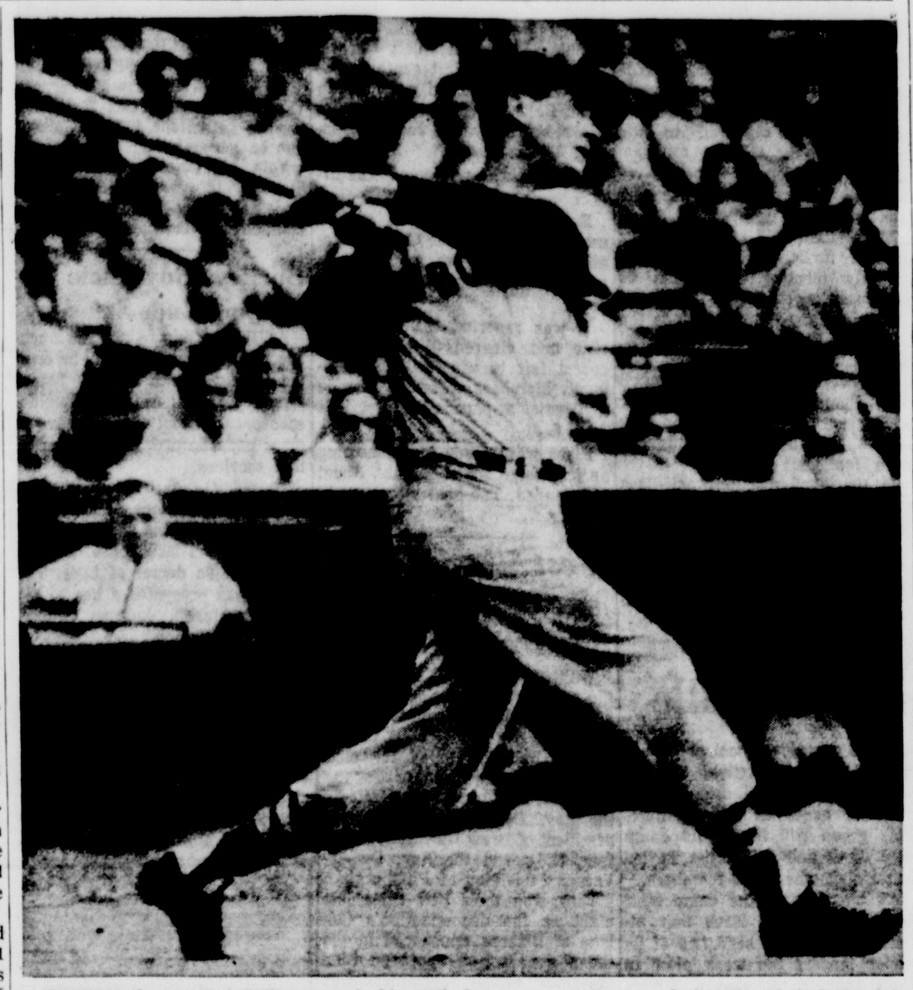
Manager Joe Gordon indicated he would bench John Temple and play Harvey Kuenn at third tonight. Marty Keough, newly acquired from Boston, would go to right field. Temple has a foot injury, and Gordon explained:

"He's too good a ball player to embarrass by asking him to play on one leg. John isn't complaining. He'd stay in there, but that foot needs more time to heal."

Although he was an outfielder through the last two seasons with the Detroit Tigers, Kuenn came up with Detroit as a shortstop and was used in that position by the Tigers for several years.

Baltimore's Jack Fisher allowed Cleveland only seven hits over 11 innings as he sent the Tribe to its fifth loss in six games. Three of those hits came in the last half of the ninth inning when the Indians tied the score. John Romano homered, and another run came in on Tito Francona's double and Chuck Tanner's pinch single.

Ted Bowsfield, obtained with Keough Monday in the Boston trade, made his first start for Cleveland. He yielded two runs on eight hits in seven innings, walking two and fanning three. Singles by Gus Triandos and Brooks Robinson after Hansen's walk netted the birds a run in the fourth. They added another in the seventh on Robinson's single and Walt Dropo's double.



BOSTON slugger Ted Williams sends his 499th home run on its way during the ninth inning of the Detroit-Boston game Thursday at Detroit. Williams' homer tied the score but the Tigers won in the 10th, 6-5. (UPI Telephoto)

Jimmy Brown Signs 2-Year Football Pact

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Browns have signed their sensational fullback, Jim Brown, to a two-year contract, putting an end—for the time being, at least—to talk that Brown might quit football.

Brown had said earlier this year he had an offer to go into another sport and indicated he would accept the offer unless he got the same sort of raise he received after the 1958 season, when he set the National Football League record for rushing—1,527 yards.

Apparently Brown, who led the league in rushing last season for the third straight year, got the raise. Although terms of the contract were not made public, Coach Paul Brown said today Jimmy was "being paid in line with being the best running back in the history of the game."

The coach said the option clause in the contract in effect binds the big fullback to the Browns for the next three season.

Jim never identified the other sport in which he was interested, but it was reported the all-around athlete had been considering a career in boxing. The 6-foot-2, 228-pound Brown starred in basketball, lacrosse and track at Syracuse University as well as in football. He reportedly was offered a boxing contract when he left Syracuse but passed it up for football.

Coach Brown said he doubted that Jim "ever seriously considered a career in boxing or another sport."

Five Teenagers Sign Bonus Offers

By The Associated Press

Within the past 48 hours, Cleveland, the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis—all avowed anti-big bonus clubs — and San Francisco have met price tags totaling an estimated $420,000 to sign five teenagers in major league baseball's annual rush on kid talent.

The Giants gave up about $170,000 for two of the kids Thursday. They signed Chuck (Cap) Peterson, 17-year-old shortstop from Tacoma, Wash., for an estimated $90,000 a few hours after shelling out an estimated $80,000 for Randy Hundley, 18, Martinsville, Va., catcher.

The Indians got into the sweepstakes Thursday by bundling up $75,000 to snare Sam McDowell, 17-year-old left-hander who has pitched 40 no-htters, in a bidding brawl with 13 other clubs.

Wednesday, the Cubs paid an estimated $125,000 for 17-year-old Danny Murphy, right-hander pitcher from Danvers, Mass. The Cardinals paid an estimated $50,000 the same day to Jerry Marx, 18, shortstop from Cincinnati.

The Giants also recently paid an estimated $85,000 for Dick Dietz, 18, a catcher—making a total of $165,000 shelled out by the National League club for kid catchers in less than two weeks.

Two High Scoring Games Highlight Minor Loop Play

A pair of high-scoring contests topped action in the Minor League Thursday when Knowles handed Potters Bank and Trust a 20-17 setback and Bergeners nipped Veteran's plate Glass, 12-11.

Knowles scored in every inning but the first and turned in an eight-run third to defeat Potters. McKenzie was the winning pitcher while Whinegartner, Orr, Pierce and Bosworth had two hits each for the winners.

Potters Bank and Trust outhit Knowles 15-11, but committed six costly errors.

Bergener's pushed across four runs in the final inning to nip Veteran's in a thriller. The winners collected 11 hits, including three by Wood. Steele was the winning hurler. Jones connected for a double and single for two of the loser's four safeties.

Post 374 Trips Foe, 8-1, Behind Six's Two-Hitter

Behind the two-hit pitching of Ed Six and the heavy bats of Bud Myers and Gary Berhar, Post 374 opened its league season by blasting Columbiana, 8-1, Thursday at Patterson Field.

It marked the first league start for Post 374 which was rained out of its opener Sunday.

Six struck out 10 and allowed Columbiana only two singles. He gave up four walks.

Myers, Post 374's leftfielder, staked his team to a 4-0 lead in the third inning with a grand slam home run. Berhar increased the margin in the fifth inning by clubbing a triple with two teammates on base.

Six didn't give up a run until the seventh inning.

Post 374 plays an exhibition game against Post 44 of Canton Saturday at the 10th District convention at Cook's Park in Canton. The next league game is at Salem Wednesday while the locals meet Steubenville at Patterson Field on Thursday.

The Dodgers climbed into fifth place with a 10-6 decision over last-place Philadelphia Thursday night. The champs, nine games out of first place, have won four of their last five games—all against Cincinnati and the Phils.

Pittsburgh completed a three-game sweep at San Francisco with a 10-7 victory. The Pirates now have a four-game lead over the second-place Giants who have lost four in a row. Milwaukee, five games back in third, defeated the Chicago Cubs 10-7. Fourth-place St. Louis made it four straight, spilling Cincinnati to sixth with a 6-5 decision.

The Pirates, picking right-hander Vern Law (9-2) to face the Dodgers' Stan Williams (5-0) tonight, took two of three in their last trip to Los Angeles. But the Dodgers sent them skidding out of first place with a three-game sweep at Pittsburgh three weeks ago.

In the American League, Baltimore bounced back on top by defeating Cleveland 3-2 in 11 innings. That gave the Orioles a 1½-game lead over the Indians and New York, tied for second. Kansas City ended the Yankees' winning streak at seven, 9-1, with their first victory over southpaw Whitey Ford in seven years. The Chicago White Sox beat Washington 10-4. Detroit defeated Boston 6-5 in 10 innings.

Wally Moon and Frank Howard each hit three-run homers for the Dodgers, who tagged loser John Buzhard (2-5) and three relievers for 15 hits. Moon's shot climaxed a four-run third and he then brought in the clincher with a sacrifice fly in the fifth for a total of 22 RBI in a 12-game hitting streak.

Southpaw Johnny Podres (6-5) won for the fourth time in his last five decisions. He gave up 10 of the Phils' 14 hits and needed relief help in a four-run eighth.

Bob Skinner drove in five runs for Pittsburgh, bringing the Bucs from behind with a grand-slam homer in a six-run fifth inning as they beat Jack Sanford (6-3) for the first time in two years. Consecutive triples by Don Hoak and the decisive run in a three-run eighth against reliever Johnny Antonelli. Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell (3-4) was the winner, but was chased in a five-run ninth capped by Willie Kirkland's three run homer off Roy Face.

Three runs in the eighth did it for the Braves with Hank Aaron's two-run triple the payoff shot against losing reliever Joe Schaffernoth (0-1). Reliever Ron Piche won his first in his third major league decision, although blowing a 6-5 lead when Don Zimmer greeted him with a solo home run in the seventh.

The Cards, seven games behind Pittsburgh, beat Bob Purkey (5-3) with a 6-1 lead in five innings. Lindy McDaniel had to save it after a two-run homer by Frank Robinson got the Res rolling for four runs against winner Ernie Broglio (4-2) in the eighth.

Victoria Park Race Favorite

By The Associated Press

Victoria Park, a romping winner of the Queens Plate in Canada last week, returns to action in the United States Saturday as the favorite for the $35,000 added Leonard Richards Stakes at Delaware Park.

Unless C. V. Whitney's Tompion or one of his lesser known rivals upsets the applecart, E. P. Taylor's Canadian-bred 3-year old should chalk up his first stakes victory of the year in the United States.

Bill Hartack, winner of the Kentucky Derby with Venetian Way and the Belmont Stakes last week with Celtic Ash, will be in Victoria Park's saddle.

Souchak's 68 Leads In U.S. Open

Bolt's Temper Costs $100

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Between fish jumping out of lakes, Tommy Bolt throwing clubs into them, kids swiping balls from drainage ditches, and the sun baking Cherry Hills to unusual toughness, the 60th National Open Golf Tournament is off to a rousing start.

Challenging Souchak are Jerry Barber, 44, Los Angeles and Henry Ransom, 49, St. Andrews, Ill., both with 69s.

Most everybody thought this 7,004-yard, par 35-36—71 Cherry Hills course was going to play to a cinch, but only eight other golfers out of the field of 150 managed to break par on opening day.

Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, one of eight tied at 70, might have led but a fish jumped in the lake in front of the 18th tee just as he was hitting his drive. He hit the ball into the water and took a double bogey 6.

If Sanders had a jolt, Bolt had one, too.

Burning, he struggled on to the 18th and there hit two drives into the lake in front of the tee. He fired his club into the lake after the second shot, barely missing playing partner Claude Harmon. He wound up with an 8 on the par 4 hole, a 35-45—80 for his round and withdrew.

"I'm as sick as a dog," he said.

He was sicker when the PGA tournament committee told him he was fined $100 for "conduct unbecoming a professional."

The drainage ditch episode belonged to tourney favorite Arnold Palmer, the Masters champion from Ligonier, Pa. His drive went into the water-filled ditch that snakes along the right side of the No. 1 fairway. It really didn't mean anything when the ball was picked up. Palmer had to drop another behind the hazard, but he took a double bogey 6 and despite five later birdies, shot a one-over-par 72. The tourney continues with another 18 today and the 36-hole windup for the low 50 and ties Saturday.

Yankees Beaten For First Time By 'Farm Club,' 9-1

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the Kansas City A's finally decided to stop the nonsense, they really did a job. They belted the Yankees 9-1 Thursday night, blocking their shot at the American League lead.

It was the A's first victory over the Yanks in nine tries—and their first over southpaw Whitey Ford in seven years.

With the Yankee defeat, Baltimore bounced back into first place by 1½ games over New York and Cleveland, tied for second. The Orioles had beaten the Indians 3-2 in 11 innings on Ron Hansen's home run in an afternoon game.

The Chicago White Sox clung to fourth place, 2½ games behind, by whipping Washington 10-4. Fifth-place Detroit defeated Boston 6-5 in 10 innings after Ted Williams' 499th home run gave the Red Sox a tie in the ninth.

In the National League, Pittsburgh built a four-game lead by beating second-place San Francisco 10-7 for a sweep of the three-game series. Third-place Milwaukee defeated Chicago's Cubs 10-7. St. Louis made it four straight with a 6-5 win at Cincinnati. Los Angeles beat Philadelphia 10-6.

Left-hander Bud Daley's four-hit pitching made it a breeze for the A's who had lost 14 in a row to Ford since August 22, 1953. Daley, top winner in the AL and tied with Pittsburgh's Vern Law and St. Louis' Larry Jackson as the winningest in the majors, struck out four and walked four while squaring his lifetime mark against New York at 4-4. The Yanks' run came in the second inning, when a walk to Ford forced it home.

Ford (2-5), losing three in a row for only the second time in a nine-year career, was beaten in a two-run first. Bob Johnson's double, infield hits by Hank Bauer and Dick Williams and a single by Norm Siebern, did it. The A's, who were 0-13 against Ford since their shift to Kansas City, then chased the little lefty on Johnson's two-run single as they scored five in the seventh.

Baltimore won the series at Cleveland three games to one after blowing a 2-0 lead in the ninth. Jack Fisher (5-4) gave up seven hits, losing the shutout and the lead in the ninth on Johnny Romano's home run, Tito Francona's double and a two-out pinch single by Chuck Tanner. Barry Latman (1-1) was the loser in relief.

The White Sox picked up four unearned runs in the third, blew a 4-2 lead and then beat ex-mate Ray Moore (1-2) with a sixth-inning run. Earl Battey and Bob Allison each hit two-run homers for the Senators. Gerry Staley (8-2), who pitched three hitless innings of mop-up relief, was given the victory although Dick Donovan was the pitcher of record when the White Sox cracked a 4-4 tie in the sixth.

Consecutive one-out singles by pinch-hitter Sandy Amoros, Eddie Yost and Frank Bolling beat Boston for Tiger reliever Dave Sisler (4-2). Williams' home run, seventh of the season, came off lefty reliever Hank Aguirre.

East End Nine, Vitrified Win In Softball

The East End Merchants bounced back into first place in the City Softball League with a 7-1 victory over Studen's Construction, and American Vitrified hung a 3-0 setback on Patterson - Wetzel Cleaners Thursday.

Howard Wilson was checked with the loss giving up six hits.

'I Wasn't Tired,' Mizell Declares After 166 Pitches

But the Pirates' tall, gangling southpaw had his tongue in his cheek as he said it.

Now 2-1 with the Pirates since he was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals, Mizell threw 166 pitches Thursday before he was taken out in the ninth as his teammates beat San Francisco 10-7.

It was a big victory, giving a four-game lead over the second-place Giants.

"Wilmer had pitched three hours and two minutes when I went out and got him," said Buc manager Danny Murtaugh. "He put in a day's work for us."

Entries In NCAA Meet Have Eyes On Olympics

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) —Collegiate track stars — 489 of the strong and swift — opened competition today in the NCAA championships with sights set on the Olympics in Rome.

Athletes entered represent 11 schools with entries for individual events ranging as high as 67 for the 800 meter run.

The field includes seven who won titles in 1959, but only two are clear-cut favorites to retain their crowns — hammer thrower John Lawler of Boston University and javelin thrower Bill Alley of Kansas.

The Los Angeles Dodgers won 15 of their last 20 games to win the 1959 National League pennant.

Yesterday's Stars

Hitting — Bob Skinner, Pirates, drove in five runs, overhauling Giants lead with grand-slam homer in fifth inning and getting a single in decisive eighth inning of 10-7 victory.

Myer Pitches 3-Hitter As Litten's Win Eighth

It looks like nobody is going to stop Litten's who are racing through the Pony League with a perfect 8-0 mark after Thursday's 6-1 victory over second place Woodbine at Dopler Field.

Victoria Park Race Favorite

By The Associated Press

Victoria Park, a romping winner of the Queens Plate in Canada last week, returns to action in the United States Saturday as the favorite for the $35,000 added Leonard Richards Stakes at Delaware Park.

Unless C. V. Whitney's Tompion or one of his lesser known rivals upsets the applecart, E. P. Taylor's Canadian-bred 3-year old should chalk up his first stakes victory of the year in the United States.

Bill Hartack, winner of the Kentucky Derby with Venetian Way and the Belmont Stakes last week with Celtic Ash, will be in Victoria Park's saddle.

Myer Pitches 3-Hitter As Litten's Win Eighth

It looks like nobody is going to stop Litten's who are racing through the Pony League with a perfect 8-0 mark after Thursday's 6-1 victory over second place Woodbine at Dopler Field.

Dave Myer was near perfect Thursday as he pitched a three-hitter to keep Litten's winning streak intact.

Myer's teammates backed him up with five hits and took advantage of seven Woodbine errors. Woodbine didn't score until the seventh inning.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Between fish jumping out of lakes, Tommy Bolt throwing clubs into them, kids swiping balls from drainage ditches, and the sun baking Cherry Hills to unusual toughness, the 60th National Open Golf Tournament is off to a rousing start.

Challenging Souchak are Jerry Barber, 44, Los Angeles and Henry Ransom, 49, St. Andrews, Ill., both with 69s.

Most everybody thought this 7,004-yard, par 35-36—71 Cherry Hills course was going to play to a cinch, but only eight other golfers out of the field of 150 managed to break par on opening day.

Doug Sanders of Miami Beach, one of eight tied at 70, might have led but a fish jumped in the lake in front of the 18th tee just as he was hitting his drive. He hit the ball into the water and took a double bogey 6.

If Sanders had a jolt, Bolt had one, too.

After hitting out of bounds on No. 11, but managing a par 5 anyway, tempestuous Tommy hit into the water at the par 3 12th and took a 6.

Burning, he struggled on to the 18th and there hit two drives into the lake in front of the tee. He fired his club into the lake after the second shot, barely missing playing partner Claude Harmon. He wound up with an 8 on the par 4 hole, a 35-45—80 for his round and withdrew.

"I'm as sick as a dog," he said.

He was sicker when the PGA tournament committee told him he was fined $100 for "conduct unbecoming a professional."

The drainage ditch episode belonged to tourney favorite Arnold Palmer, the Masters champion from Ligonier, Pa. His drive went into the water-filled ditch that snakes along the right side of the No. 1 fairway. It really didn't mean anything when the ball was picked up. Palmer had to drop another behind the hazard, but he took a double bogey 6 and despite five later birdies, shot a one-over-par 72. The tourney continues with another 18 today and the 36-hole windup for the low 50 and ties Saturday.

East End Nine, Vitrified Win In Softball

The East End Merchants bounced back into first place in the City Softball League with a 7-1 victory over Studen's Construction, and American Vitrified hung a 3-0 setback on Patterson - Wetzel Cleaners Thursday.

Gene Talbott hurled a three-hitter to feature East End's victory and led the hitting attack with two hits.

Another two-hitter was turned in by American Vitrified's Jack Bryan. Hobbs led the attack with two safeties while Landfried chipped in with a timely double.

Howard Wilson was checked with the loss giving up six hits.

'I Wasn't Tired,' Mizell Declares After 166 Pitches

But the Pirates' tall, gangling southpaw had his tongue in his cheek as he said it.

Now 2-1 with the Pirates since he was traded by the St. Louis Cardinals, Mizell threw 166 pitches Thursday before he was taken out in the ninth as his teammates beat San Francisco 10-7.

It was a big victory, giving a four-game lead over the second-place Giants.

"Wilmer had pitched three hours and two minutes when I went out and got him," said Buc manager Danny Murtaugh. "He put in a day's work for us."

Entries In NCAA Meet Have Eyes On Olympics

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) —Collegiate track stars — 489 of the strong and swift — opened competition today in the NCAA championships with sights set on the Olympics in Rome.

The top six Americans in each of the 17 events qualify for the Olympic trials at Stanford, July 1-2.

Athletes entered represent 11 schools with entries for individual events ranging as high as 67 for the 800 meter run.

Kansas, defending champion, ranks as the underdog to the University of Southern California.

The field includes seven who won titles in 1959, but only two are clear-cut favorites to retain their crowns — hammer thrower John Lawler of Boston University and javelin thrower Bill Alley of Kansas.

The Los Angeles Dodgers won 15 of their last 20 games to win the 1959 National League pennant.

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

When the Kansas City A's finally decided to stop the nonsense, they really did a job. They belted the Yankees 9-1 Thursday night, blocking their shot at the American League lead.

It was the A's first victory over the Yanks in nine tries—and their first over southpaw Whitey Ford in seven years.

With the Yankee defeat, Baltimore bounced back into first place by 1½ games over New York and Cleveland, tied for second. The Orioles had beaten the Indians 3-2 in 11 innings on Ron Hansen's home run in an afternoon game.

The Chicago White Sox clung to fourth place, 2½ games behind, by whipping Washington 10-4. Fifth-place Detroit defeated Boston 6-5 in 10 innings after Ted Williams' 499th home run gave the Red Sox a tie in the ninth.

In the National League, Pittsburgh built a four-game lead by beating second-place San Francisco 10-7 for a sweep of the three-game series. Third-place Milwaukee defeated Chicago's Cubs 10-7. St. Louis made it four straight with a 6-5 win at Cincinnati. Los Angeles beat Philadelphia 10-6.

Left-hander Bud Daley's four-hit pitching made it a breeze for the A's who had lost 14 in a row to Ford since August 22, 1953. Daley, top winner in the AL and tied with Pittsburgh's Vern Law and St. Louis' Larry Jackson as the winningest in the majors, struck out four and walked four while squaring his lifetime mark against New York at 4-4. The Yanks' run came in the second inning, when a walk to Ford forced it home.

Ford (2-5), losing three in a row for only the second time in a nine-year career, was beaten in a two-run first. Bob Johnson's double, infield hits by Hank Bauer and Dick Williams and a single by Norm Siebern, did it. The A's, who were 0-13 against Ford since their shift to Kansas City, then chased the little lefty on Johnson's two-run single as they scored five in the seventh.

Baltimore won the series at Cleveland three games to one after blowing a 2-0 lead in the ninth. Jack Fisher (5-4) gave up seven hits, losing the shutout and the lead in the ninth on Johnny Romano's home run, Tito Francona's double and a two-out pinch single by Chuck Tanner. Barry Latman (1-1) was the loser in relief.

The White Sox picked up four unearned runs in the third, blew a 4-2 lead and then beat ex-mate Ray Moore (1-2) with a sixth-inning run. Earl Battey and Bob Allison each hit two-run homers for the Senators. Gerry Staley (8-2), who pitched three hitless innings of mop-up relief, was given the victory although Dick Donovan was the pitcher of record when the White Sox cracked a 4-4 tie in the sixth.

Consecutive one-out singles by pinch-hitter Sandy Amoros, Eddie Yost and Frank Bolling beat Boston for Tiger reliever Dave Sisler (4-2). Williams' home run, seventh of the season, came off lefty reliever Hank Aguirre.

Yesterday's Stars

Hitting — Bob Skinner, Pirates, drove in five runs, overhauling Giants lead with grand-slam homer in fifth inning and getting a single in decisive eighth inning of 10-7 victory.

Bogus $20's Still Show Up

CLARKSBURG — Two counterfeit $20 bills received by a Clarksburg bank Thursday are believed to be part of the batch of bogus money turned up after the arrest of 2 Cleveland men near Follansbee.

A teller in the Empire National Bank here spotted the counterfeit $20's as he was counting 2 separate deposits. The depositors, both from local business firms, did not remember where they got the bills. Both bills had the same serial number—D482904906A.

William R. Wheatley, 27, and Lawrence J. Perlatti, 25, were arrested last Sunday after they attempted to pass a $20 bill, identified by officers as counterfeit, at a Follansbee restaurant.

Authorities said that since the arrest of the two, more than $11,000 in counterfeit bills has been found cached in locations in the Upper Ohio Valley area of West Virginia and Ohio.

Some of the bills were found in a bus station locker and hotel in Steubenville; some were in a car the two men had rented, and some were hidden under a cuspidor in the Follansbee jail, where the men were held temporarily.

The acceptance of a bid by the Department of Highways and written notification of award thereof by Journal Entry to the successful bidder shall constitute a contract by and between the successful bidder and the Director of Highways and will incorporate all of the terms, provisions and conditions of the "Notice to Bidders" and the "Bid Proposal". Within ten (10) days after such written notification of award a performance guarantee for each item must be posted at the Division Highway Office indicated in Paragraph 2 of the Notice. This performance guarantee, unless otherwise indicated in the "Item Parcel" will be evidenced by a certified check for Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00) or a bond in the sum of One Thousand Dollars ($1,000.00) made payable to the Treasurer of The State of Ohio, and will be held in escrow by the Division Highway Office to insure the performance of the removal operations in accordance with the conditions set forth in this "Notice to Bidders". Failure to provide this performance guarantee check or bond within ten days will be considered a default and the remittance submitted by the successful bidder for the item awarded will be forfeited and retained by the State as liquidated damages. Thereafter the Director may readvertise and resell or otherwise dispose of the structure or structures in the best interests of the State of Ohio, Department of Highways.

The Division Deputy Director will give actual possession of the awarded item to the successful bidder by written notice after satisfactory bond is provided by such bidder and after the State has acquired legal and physical possession.

After possession is granted, any loss or damage to the structure by fire, windstorm or other casualty shall be the responsibility and risk of the successful bidder. The bidder to whom the item is awarded will be responsible for, and the State Department of Highways held harmless from, all public liability, personal injury or death, and for damages that may occur to any property as a result of the removal operations.

If razing or removal of the structure or structures, including cleanup, the removal of resulting debris and the erection of temporary barricades as may be required, is not completed by the established date to the satisfaction of the Director of Highways, all the rights, Title and interest of the successful bidder in said structure or structures may be forfeited and the bid remittance retained by the State as liquidated damages. The Director may without notice destroy or otherwise dispose of the structure or structures and satisfy and post in connection therewith from the escrow fund previously provided.

The successful bidder shall not sublet, assign or sell any portion of this work without the written consent of the Division Deputy Director of Highways. Such permission if granted with reference to subcontractors shall not relieve the original successful bidder of his responsibility.

The following additional conditions will apply to the removal operations unless specific exceptions are noted elsewhere in the "Item Parcel," description section of this "Notice".

B. Permits must be secured from the proper public authority before removal work may be started. The successful bidder must determine whether all utilities have been properly disconnected in compliance with local requirements.

C. The removal of the structure or structures listed herein shall be to ground level and will include the cleanup of all resulting materials and debris from the basements, cisterns and surrounding ground. All concrete floor slabs, not including garage floors, at ground level or under which a basement exists will be broken and removed.

D. In the event there are holes under or adjacent to any of the structures removed, the successful bidder shall construct temporary barricades around such openings.

Bogus $20's Still Show Up

CLARKSBURG — Two counterfeit $20 bills received by a Clarksburg bank Thursday are believed to be part of the batch of bogus money turned up after the arrest of 2 Cleveland men near Follansbee.

A teller in the Empire National Bank here spotted the counterfeit $20's as he was counting 2 separate deposits. The depositors, both from local business firms, did not remember where they got the bills. Both bills had the same serial number—D482904906A.

William R. Wheatley, 27, and Lawrence J. Perlatti, 25, were arrested last Sunday after they attempted to pass a $20 bill, identified by officers as counterfeit, at a Follansbee restaurant.

Authorities said that since the arrest of the two, more than $11,000 in counterfeit bills has been found cached in locations in the Upper Ohio Valley area of West Virginia and Ohio.

Some of the bills were found in a bus station locker and hotel in Steubenville; some were in a car the two men had rented, and some were hidden under a cuspidor in the Follansbee jail, where the men were held temporarily.
